We go our ways
Taking time for reflection Upon who we were Where we have been
What we have done
How we have changed —
How we are facing life:
How life faces us
We reflect upon the patterns:
the experiences failures triumphs and emotions

That make us what we are Moving always toward our goal of self-discovery.

My surface may seem smooth
. . . beneath I swell in confusion, in fear, in aloneness. But I hide this. I panic at the thought of my weakness and fear being exposed.
That's why I frantically create a mood to hide behind, a nonchalant, sophisticated facade to shield me from the glance that knows. But such a glance is my salvation. And I know it.

How people love an old saying! They are always quoting, "There is nothing new under the sun," yet there is something new every day.

E. W. Howe

It doesn't matter
what you love or how you love,
but that you love.

For in the end
the act of loving any man is the act of loving God.

The good in men is all the God there is and loving is a contribution to that good and to that only God.

Rod McKuen

Remember always that you have not only the right to be an individual; you have an obligation to be one. You can not make any useful contribution in life unless you do.

Eleanor Roosevelt

In this sad world of ours, sorrow comes to all . . . it comes with bitterest agony
. . . Perfect relief is not possible, except with time.
You cannot realize now that you will ever feel better . . .
And yet this is a mistake. You are sure to be happy again.
To know this, which is certainly true, will make you some less miserable now. I have had experience enough to know what I say.

Abraham Lincoln

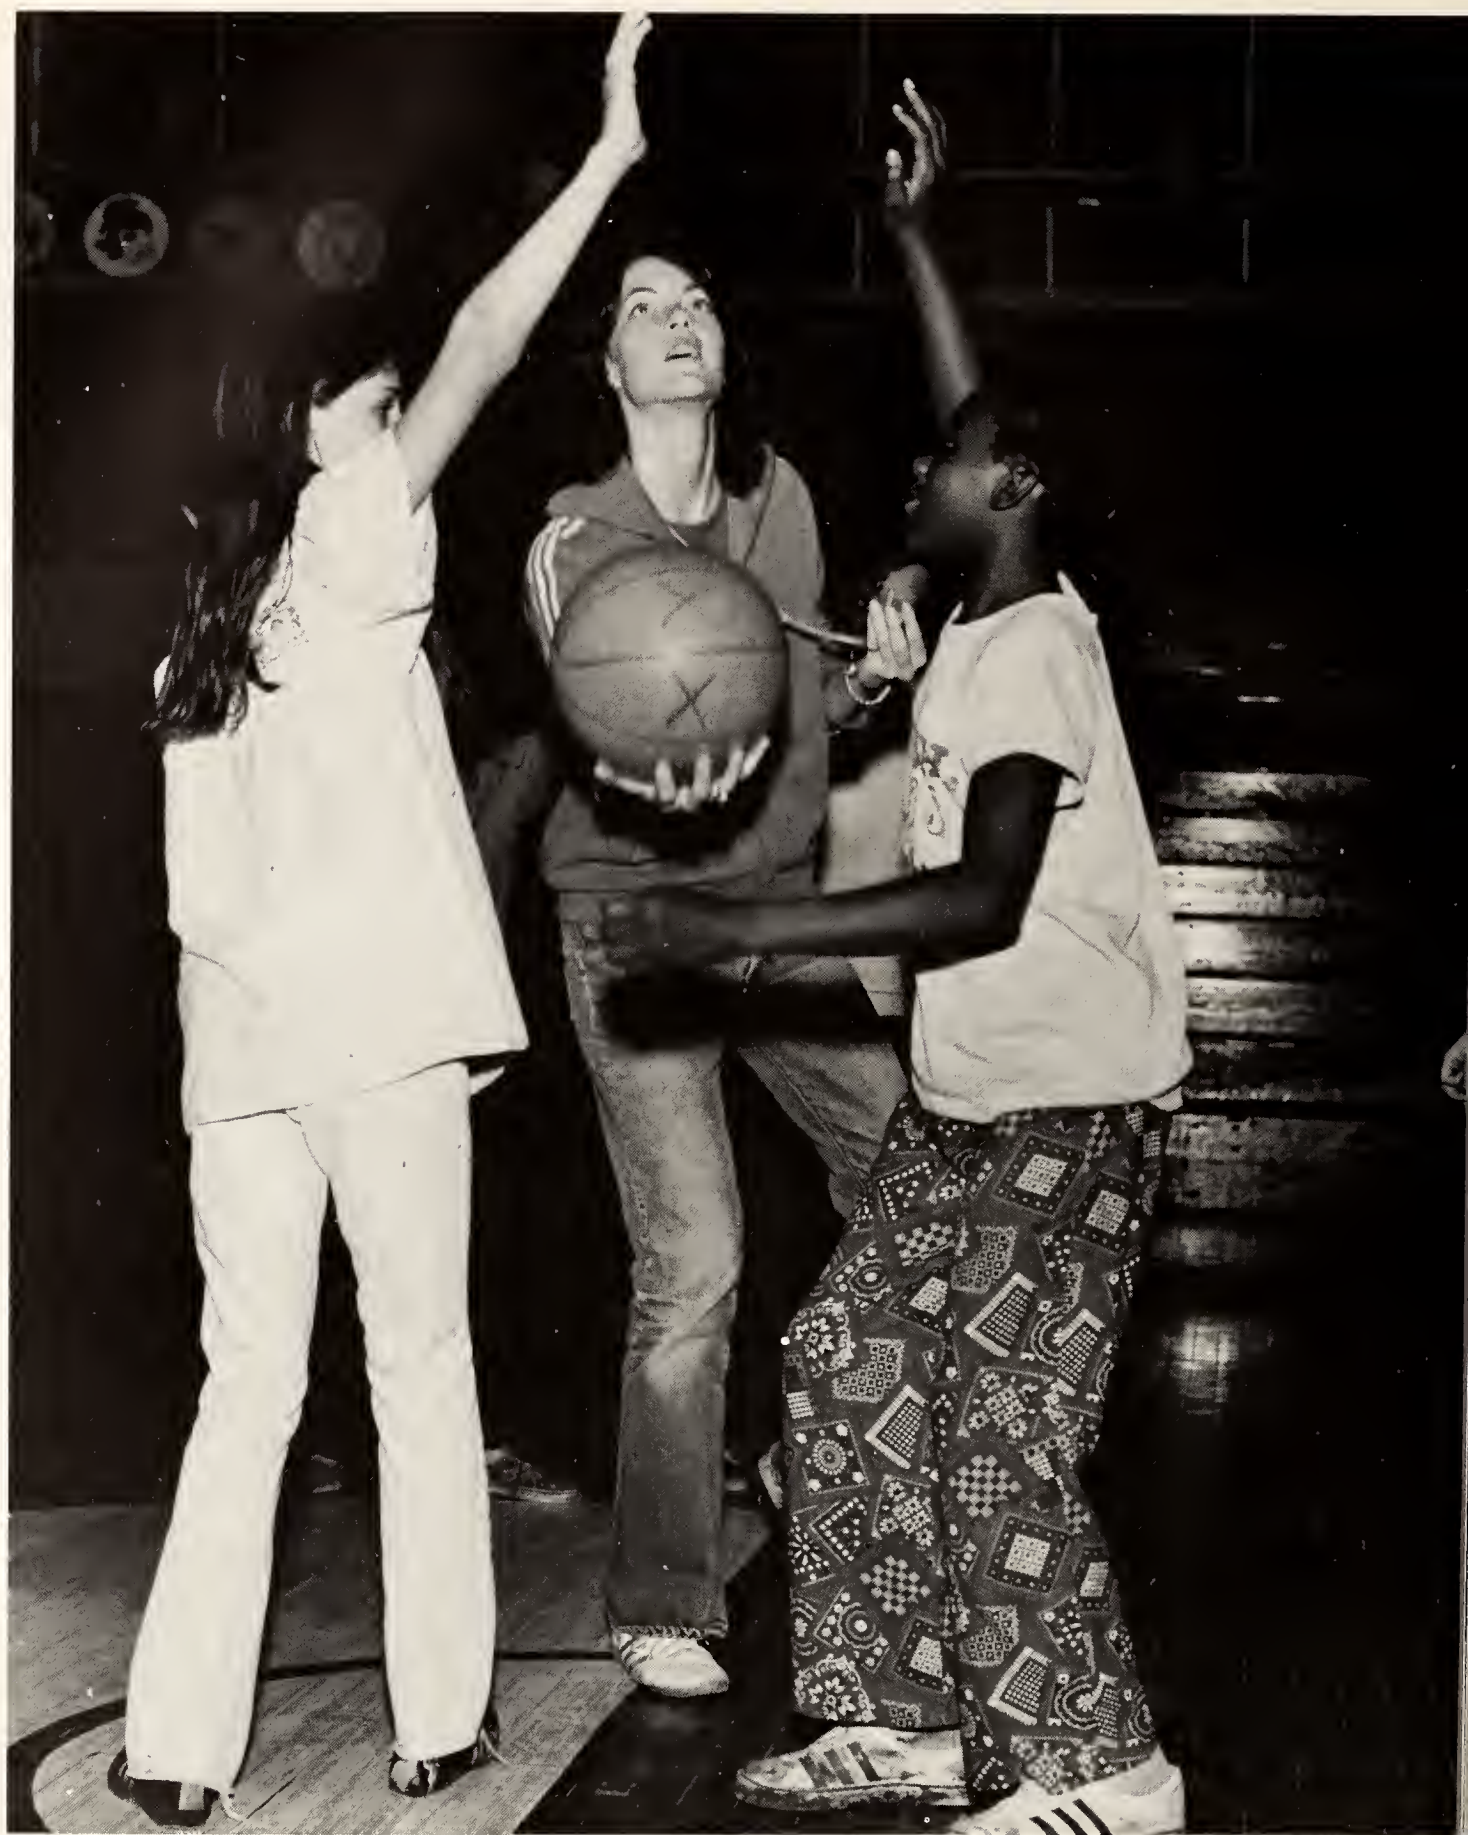

There isn't any map on the road to success; you have to find your own way.

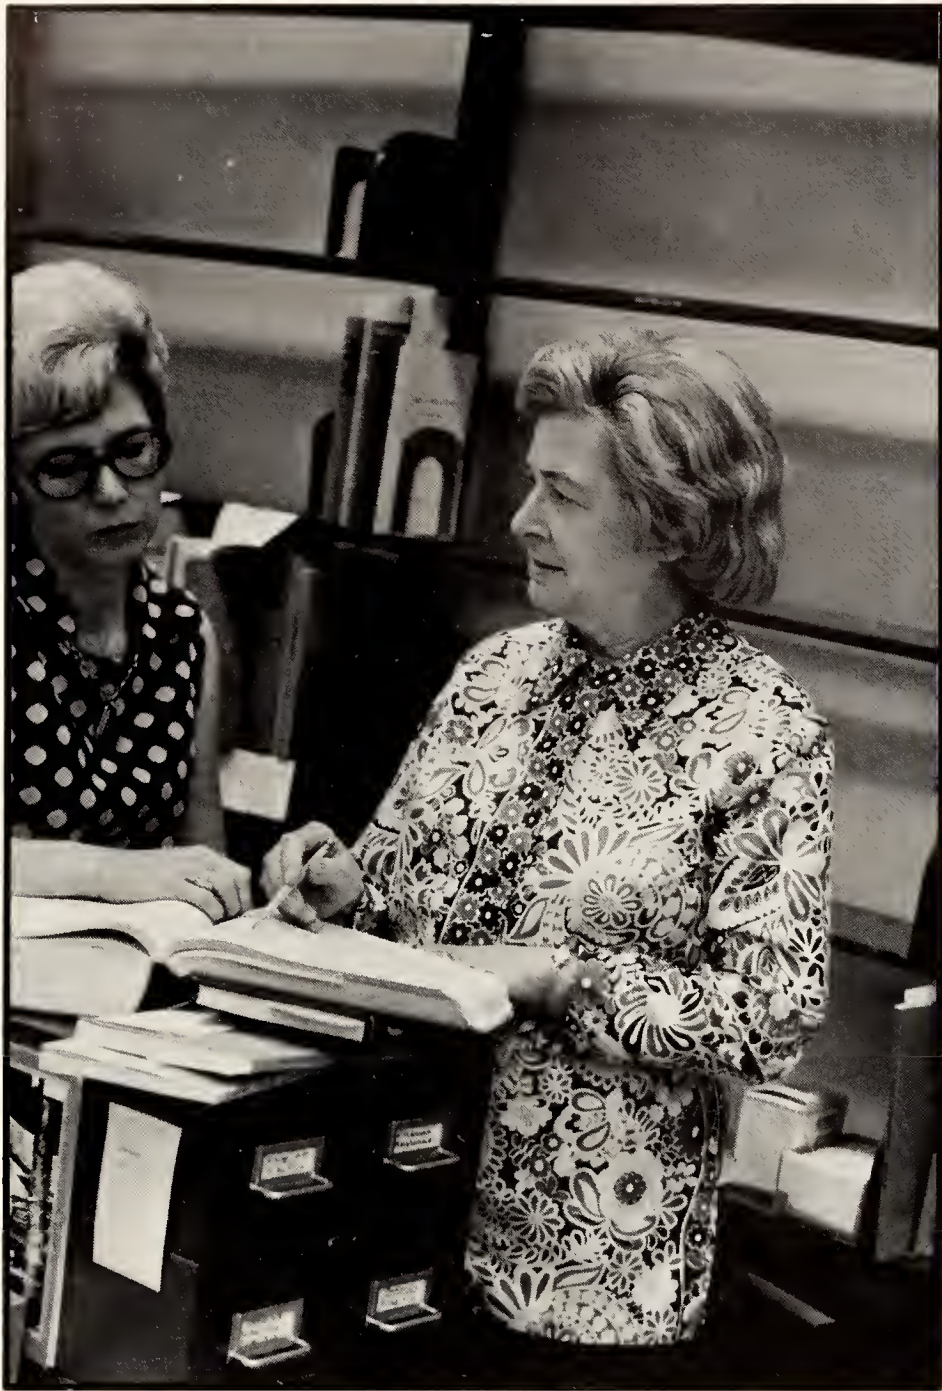

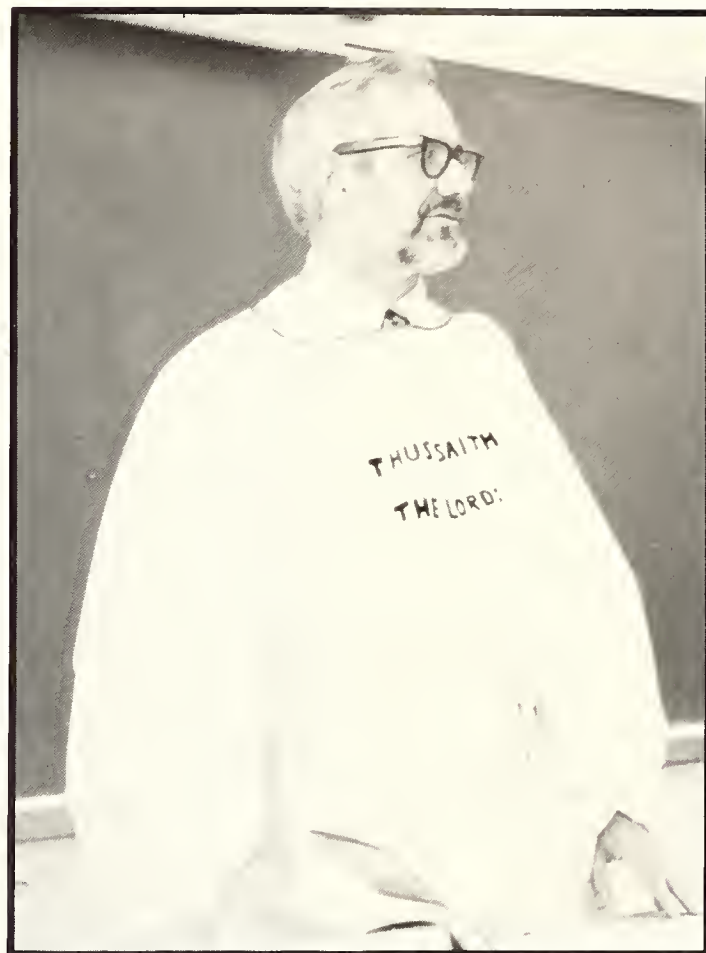

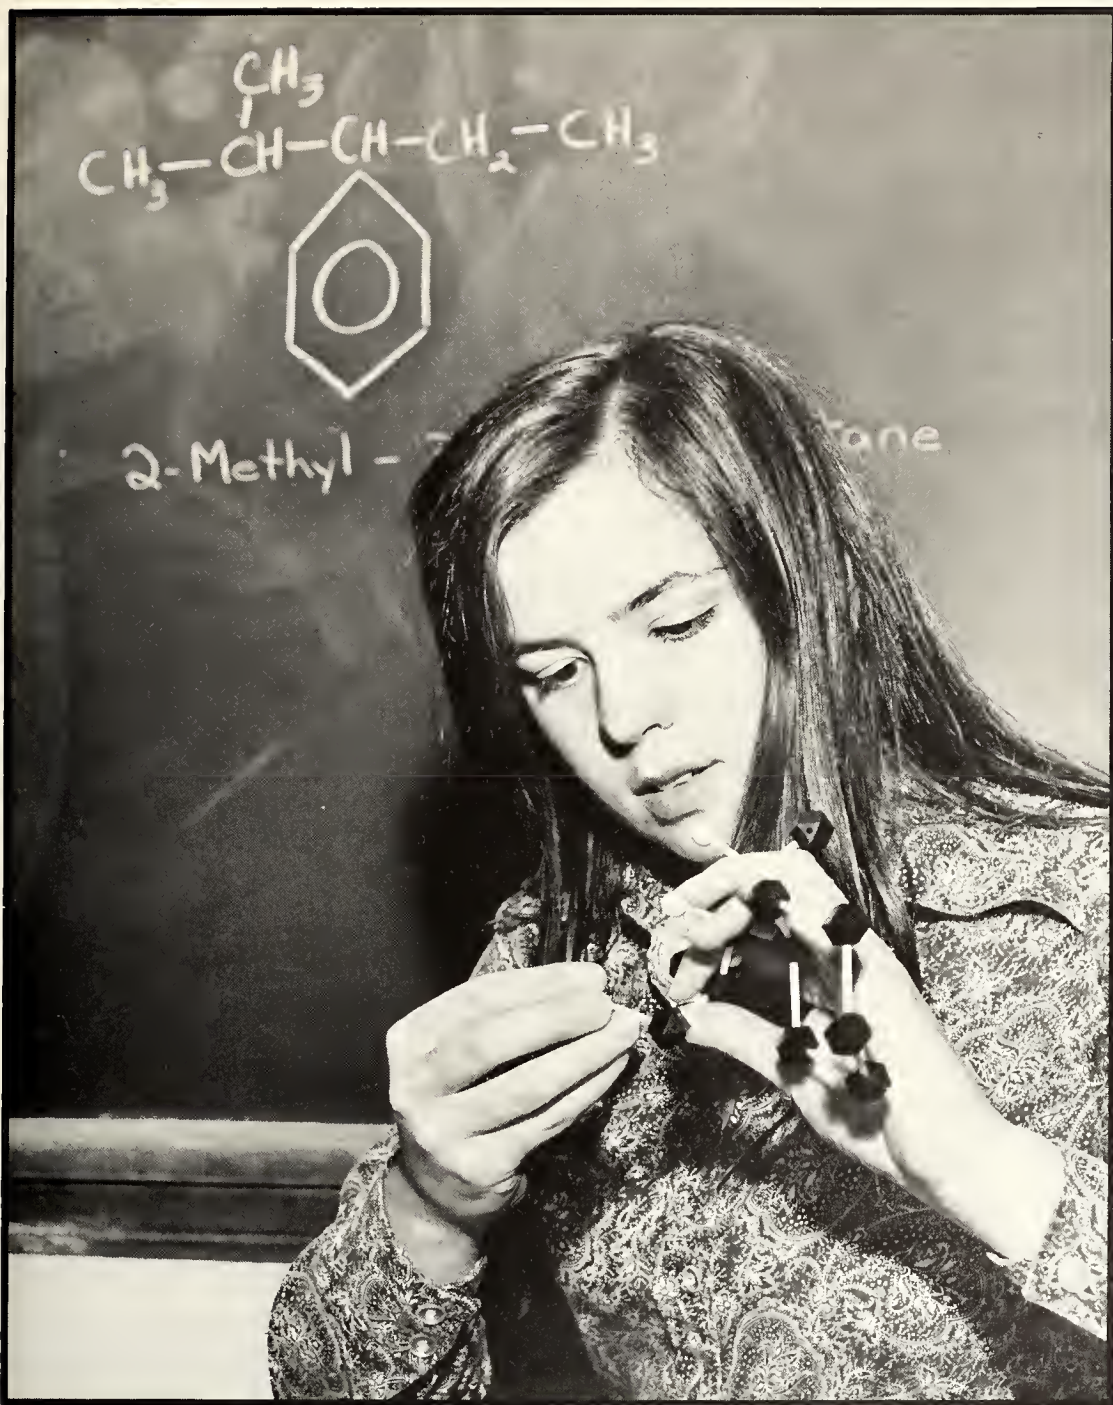

No man is an

as well as if a diminishes me, because I am involved in therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for

John Donne

Identity is when You've lost it
 There's no one to ask
 Which way it went,
 Nowhere to look for it
 And when you've found it
 Nothing to show anyone.
 But people know
 And this is how you know You've found it and that
 It isn't anything in itself
 And never was Until you lose it again.

Is that quite clear?

Centenary Lady and Gent

Our lady and gent — a dash of music and laughter — a touch of dance and song — in the spring time of their lives and ours.

Two hearts and minds that open wide to show us treasures there inside . . . freely given to any whose own vaults are more austere. But in this giving of themselves they become no less rich in all of those intangible jewels of life and love, of laughter in the heart and joy in the soul, of the freedom of the spirit which help to make them what they are. Rather we all gain, each of us the fuller, the happier, and the wealthier, for the touching of their lives to ours. We cannot inventory those qualities which make up a true lady or a gentleman. We can only say that these two fill the bill, being glad to have known them to know what nobility can mean. PMH

My life is but a minute in the infinite

But I'll try not to tarry though there are things that I want to feel, experience, that others have not had time for.

Centenary Campus

Often thought of as simple and quaint, Centenary College is characterized by tall trees and shady walkways. Students often try to add their contributions to the Georgian architecture.

different kind of life and what a life!

Faces . . .

Campus Life

Life on the campus and in the dorms — a joy and a peril for us all. A little study and a little sleep, accompanied by a . . . little? . . . mess. A lot of fun and a heap of pain. Abandon hope, all ye who enter here . . . rather enter fully into life . . . make hope into reality . . . and with the flip of a switch, bring forth light from the darkness. Drink deeply of the cup of life, and try not to spill it all over your desk. Take part in the practical part of the learning experience . . . how to make a bed, wash your own clothes, chew a pen, clean your room. Sit around the table and share life with your friends. "The proper function of man is to live, not to exist. I shall not waste my days in trying to prolong them. I shall use my time."

Registration

Once each semester comes the moment of truth . . . the hour of registration comes all too soon. Vacations have drawn to an end and the time has come to stand in line for classes that are filled by the guy or girl just ahead of you, to work out degree plans that should have been done the year before. For the freshmen, fall registration is accompanied by that delightful ritual of modern American education known as orientation. A contemporary rite of passage, it initiates us into a new way of life . . . for we know that if we can survive it, we can overcome anything else the college can throw at us. For the rest, it is a time to see old friends, catch up on the news, and race for refrigerators.

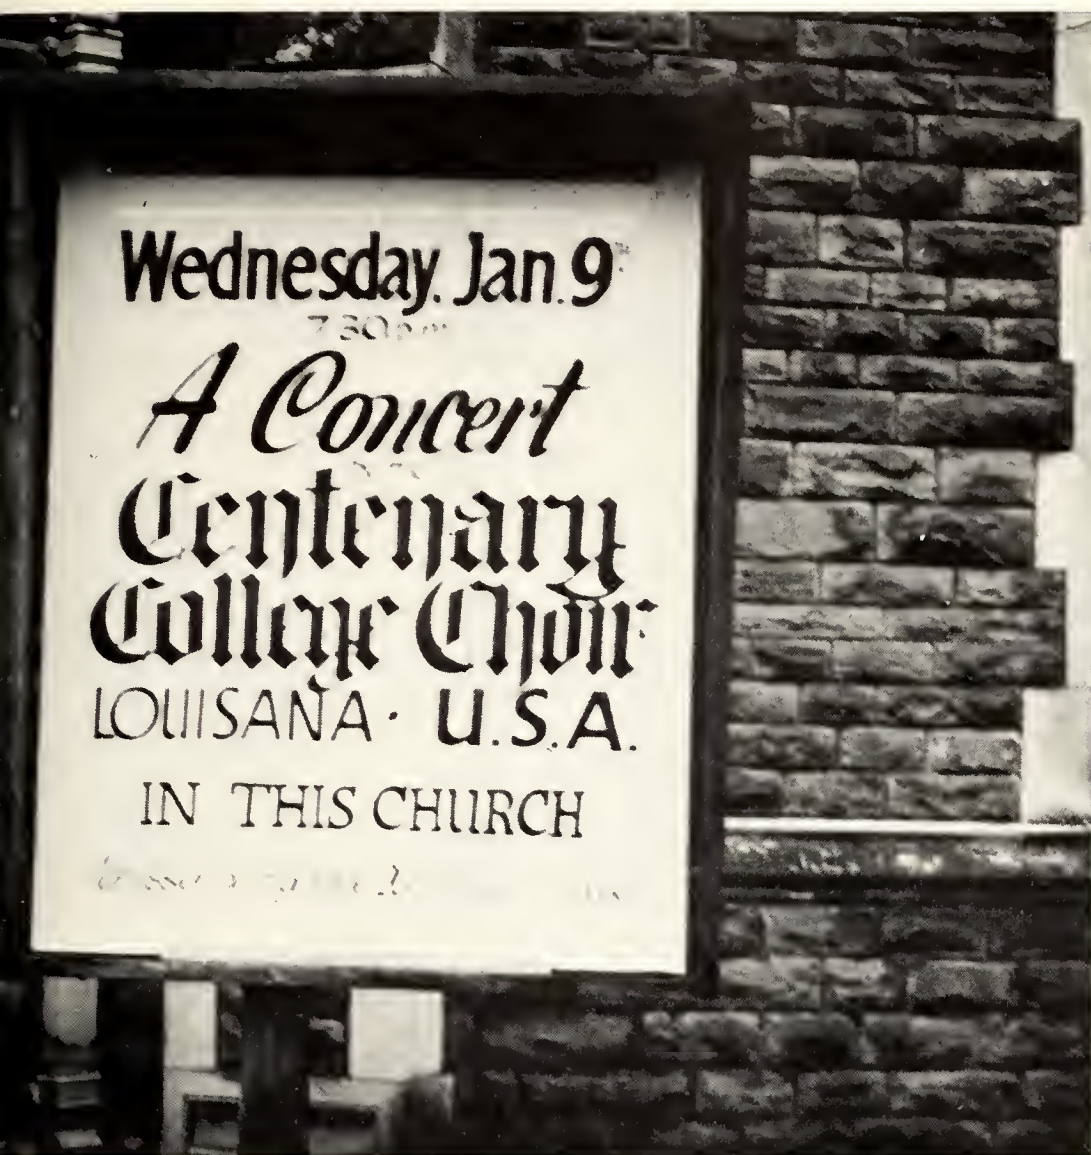

Classes

People who come to Centenary expect the academic excellence which prevails. Through the small class atmosphere we learn not only facts but how to think for ourselves and relate our thoughts to others.

Interim

Interim is sometimes peaceful, sometimes lonely for those people who return to the Sleepy Silver Bayou in January. For those who choose to take advantage of the varied opportunities offered away from Centenary, there is the thrill of new experience and many fond memories.

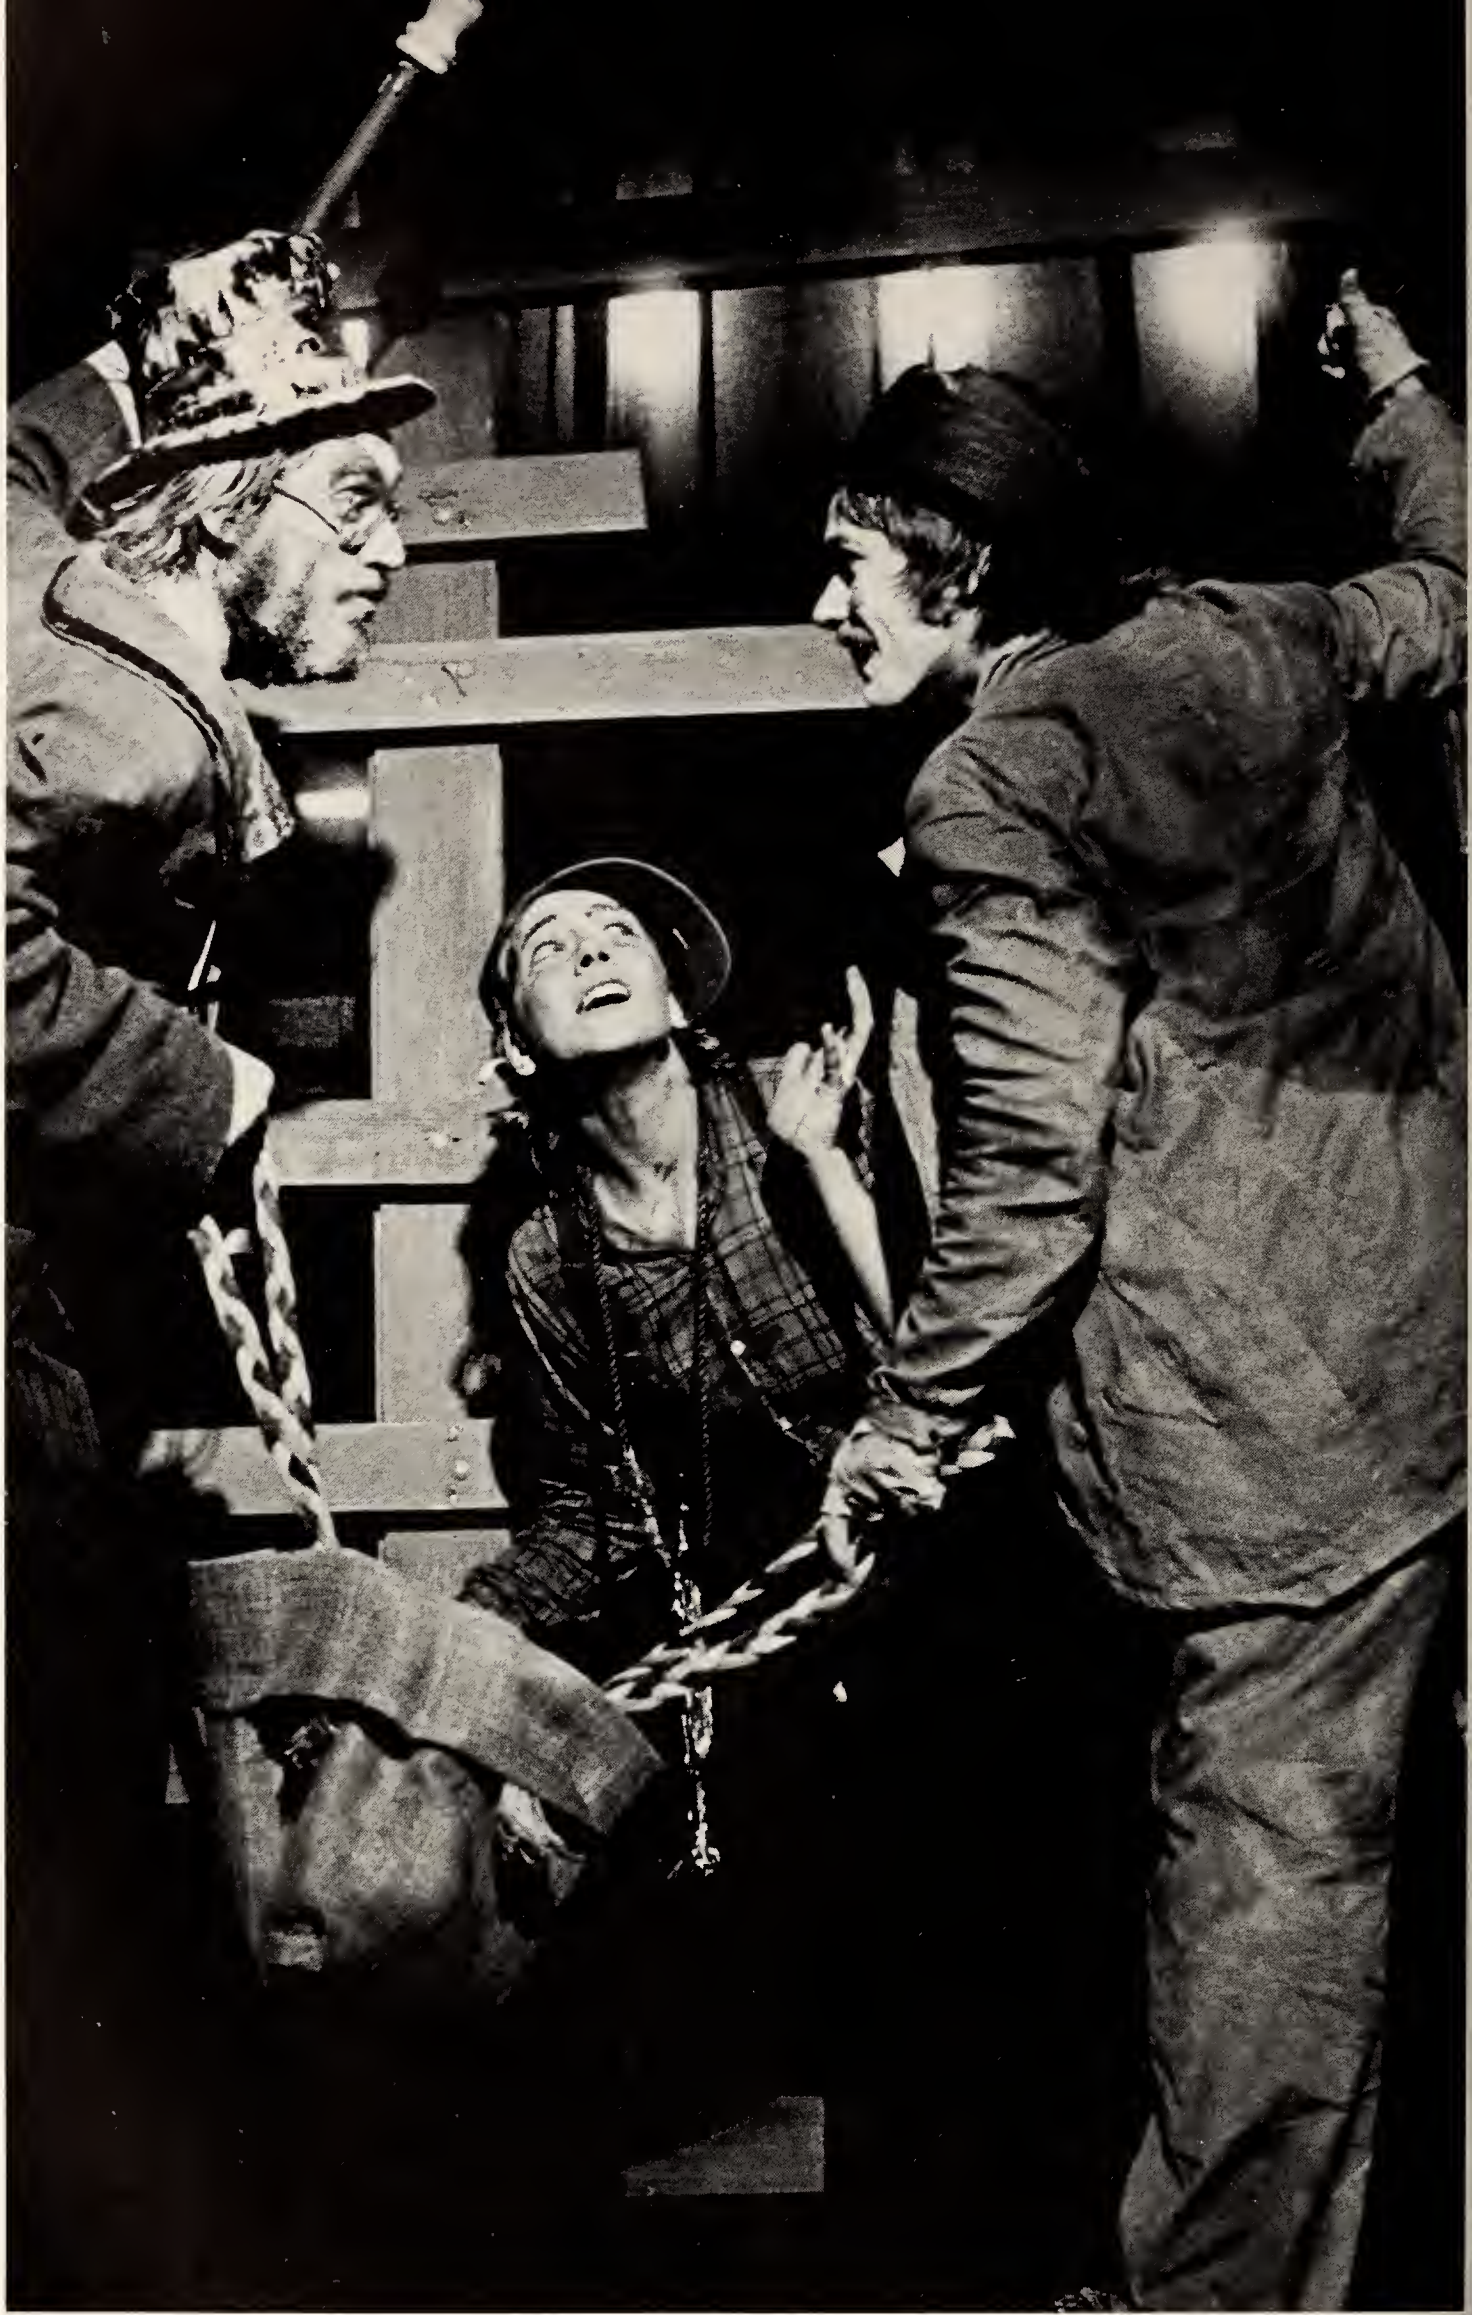

Playhouse

Majorie Lyons Playhouse provides both us and the people of Shreveport with first rate theatre all across the spectrum. The fare ranges from such shows as Arms and the Man to The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd to perhaps Winnie the Pooh. Whatever the name or variety, one thing remains constant — excellence in performance, preparation, design, and selection. A European tour this year for these sterling troupers. Who knows what might come next? No tribute to our playhouse could be fit into this space, yet do them justice. A light in the darkness, a cry in the night . . . “superb meteors, every atom in magnificent glow . . .”

High School Day

Once each year the tranquil Centenary campus vibrates to the sound of youth. On high school day, the aged students of Centenary sigh for their lost youth as hundreds of visitors occupy the dorms, the SUB, and worst of all, the cafeteria parking spaces. Nonetheless, it seems that a good time is had by all, from the dance floor to the ping pong table . . . and beyond.

Woodrow Wilson Senior Fellow

Harllee Branch, Jr.

Centenary was one of fifty liberal arts colleges in the United States selected to participate in the Woodrow Wilson Senior Fellows program during the 1973-74 term. The program, funded by the Lilly Endowment, placed representatives of business, industry, and the professions on college campuses as visiting professors.

Our first senior fellow was Atlanta businessman, Harllee Branch, Jr., a former chairman of the board of the giant utility firm, The Southern Company, and a present director of General Motors and United States Steel.

A strong advocate of well-rounded liberal arts education, Branch told Centenary students, "Sensitivity, compassion, humaneness — these are the qualities that must be present in the people who run the machines that run our society today. These are the characteristics which are nourished by your liberal arts education at Centenary."

The corporation executive also discussed Watergate, the energy crisis, corporate responsibility, pollution, and neo-isolationism.

Mr. Branch will be remembered at Centenary as a learned, articulate and entertaining spokesman for American business.

Activities

Activities on the Centenary campus run the entire proverbial gamut, "from the sublime to the ridiculous" . . . concerts, lectures, profound discussion . . . or on the other hand, there is the annual ZTA slave sale, when the 13th amendment is shelved for a day, and unsuspecting young freshwomen tread the auctioneer's block . . . or the Chi O box lunch sale, with all the makings in each lunch for the time honored loaf of bread, jug of wine, and . . . ? Gambling takes on the innocent guise of raffles for the Centenary Choir, of international fame, and the band plays on.

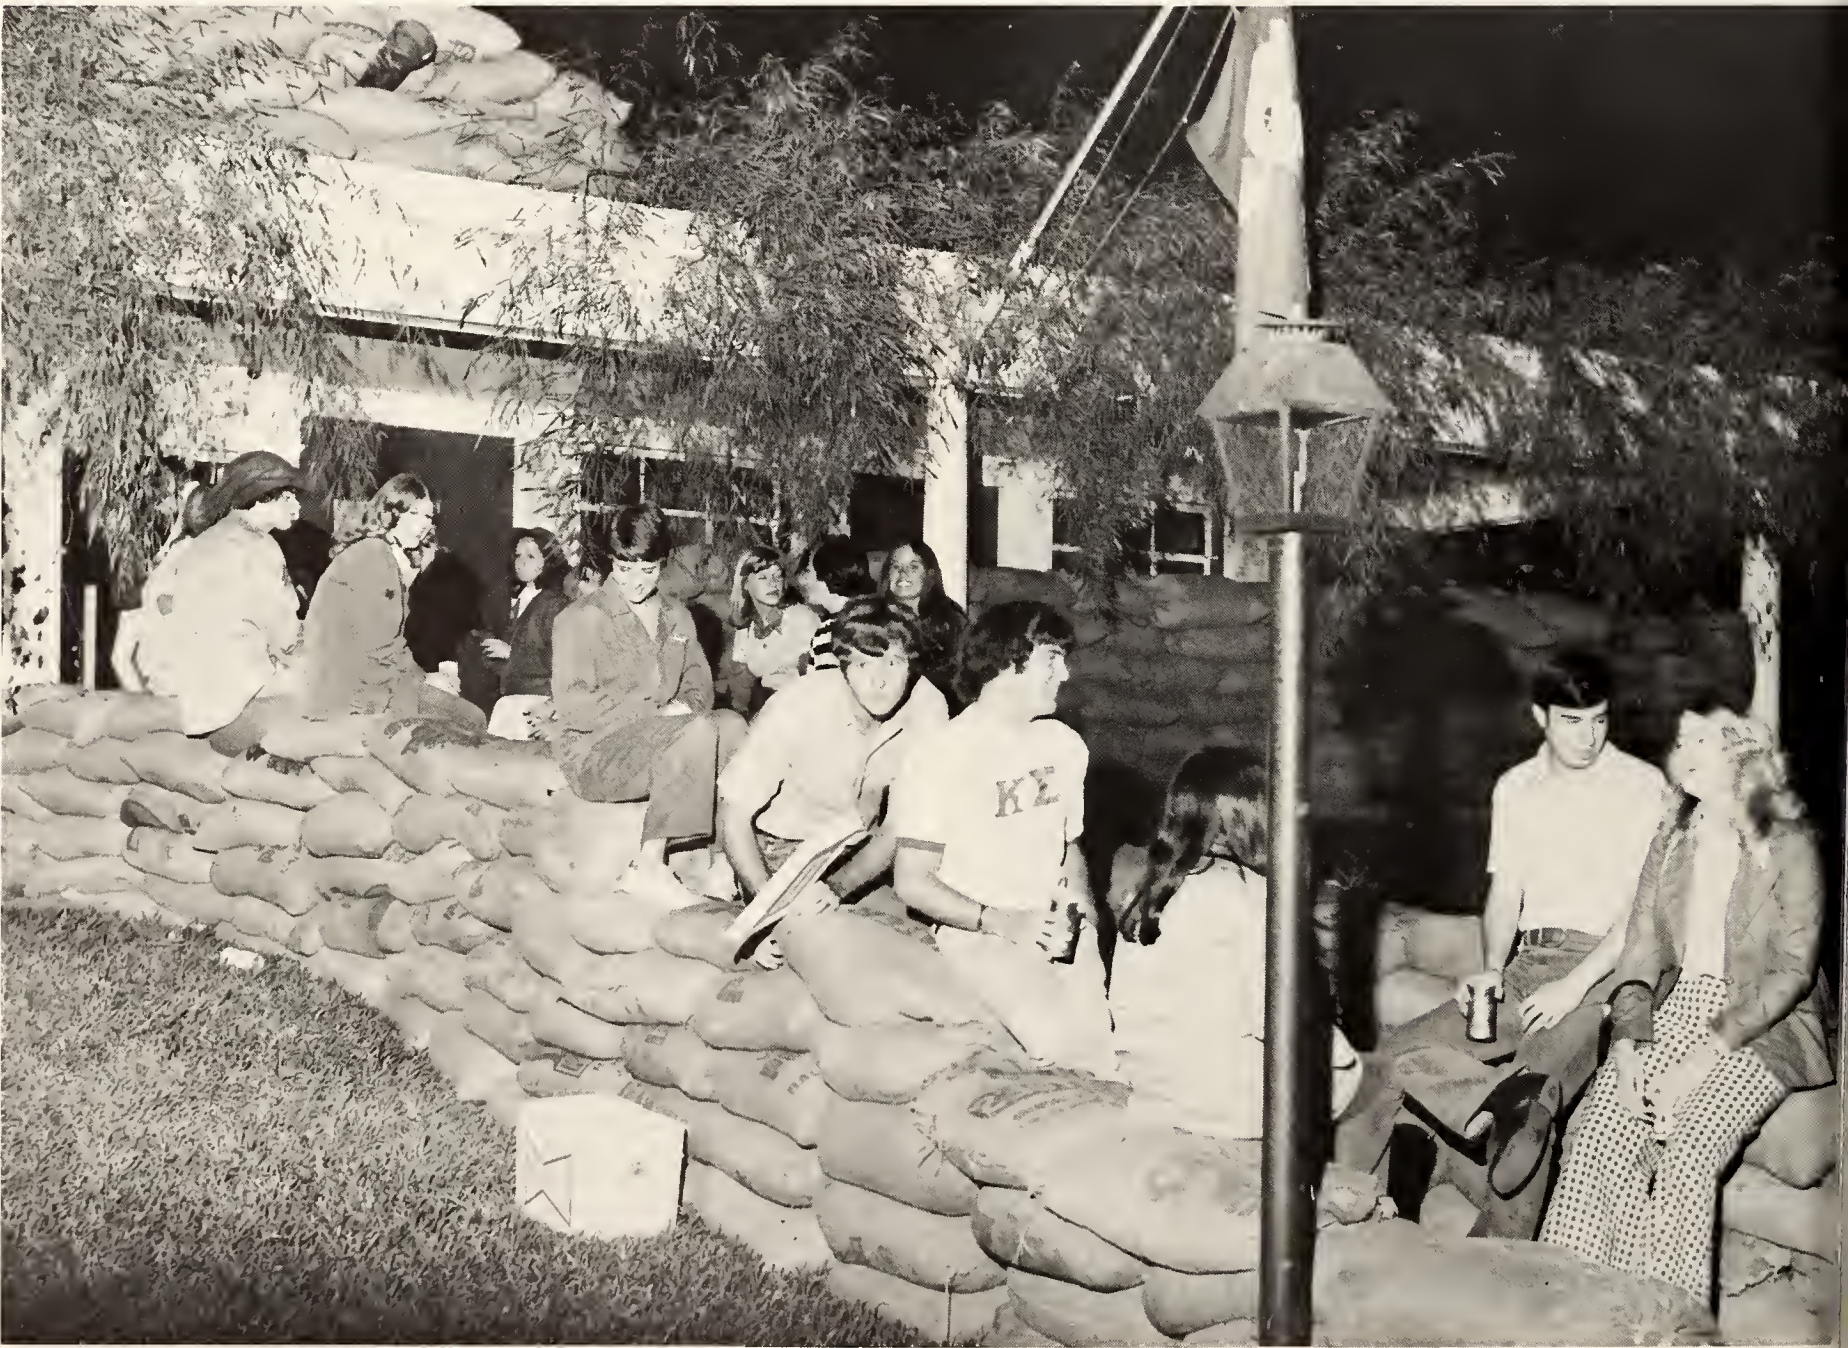

All Campus Weekend

Put down your books
get your bicycles
grab a beer
play tug-of-war swallow a goldfish
and join in the fun

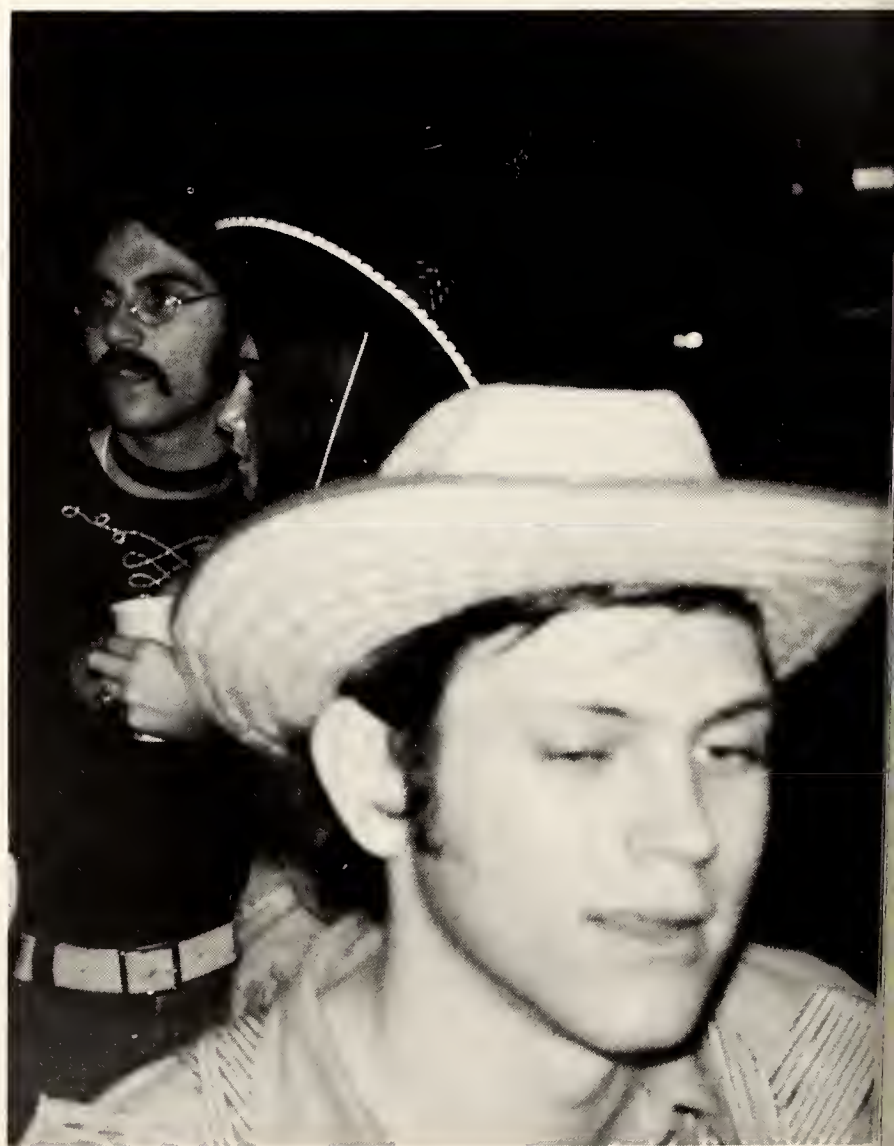

Parties

Variety is the name of the game at that little college in Shreveport. Playboy may not list us as a party school, but a private poll (sample of two) shows that the silver bayou averages one full-scale party per year for every 14 students, not to mention the less widely publicized festive gatherings . . . in the dorms, across the street, down at the corner, and elsewhere. From Bacchanalian splendor to good old down home fun . . . Rome to Africa, 1860 to 1974, PK to TKE, SUB to KE. Life is the stuff that dreams are made of . . . and the dance goes on.

Homecoming 1974 — a time of joy for Centenary as the Gents romp to an unprecedented 20th victory, with the season not yet over!

Crowds of alumni swamp the campus, to blend nostalgia with the brightness of hopes and dreams for future days, to overcome, perhaps, in a small way, the oft-lamented gap between generations, in a riotous, raucous, rousing bout of cheering and revelry for all. Decoration, preparation, and the sweet, sweet taste of victory.

The Gents showed the NCAA that they were more than equal to the challenge which a small private college with an exceptionally gifted basketball team has to endure in these days of big school domination of sports and official athletic hierarchy. I refer, of course, to the NCAA's probation levied on Centenary for alleged admission violations. However, despite this the Gents rolled to a 22-3 record and at one point in the season had a 12-0 slate, (at that time the longest win streak in the nation among major colleges.) They also fashioned a 13 game win streak in the Gold Dome to add to their list of accomplishments.

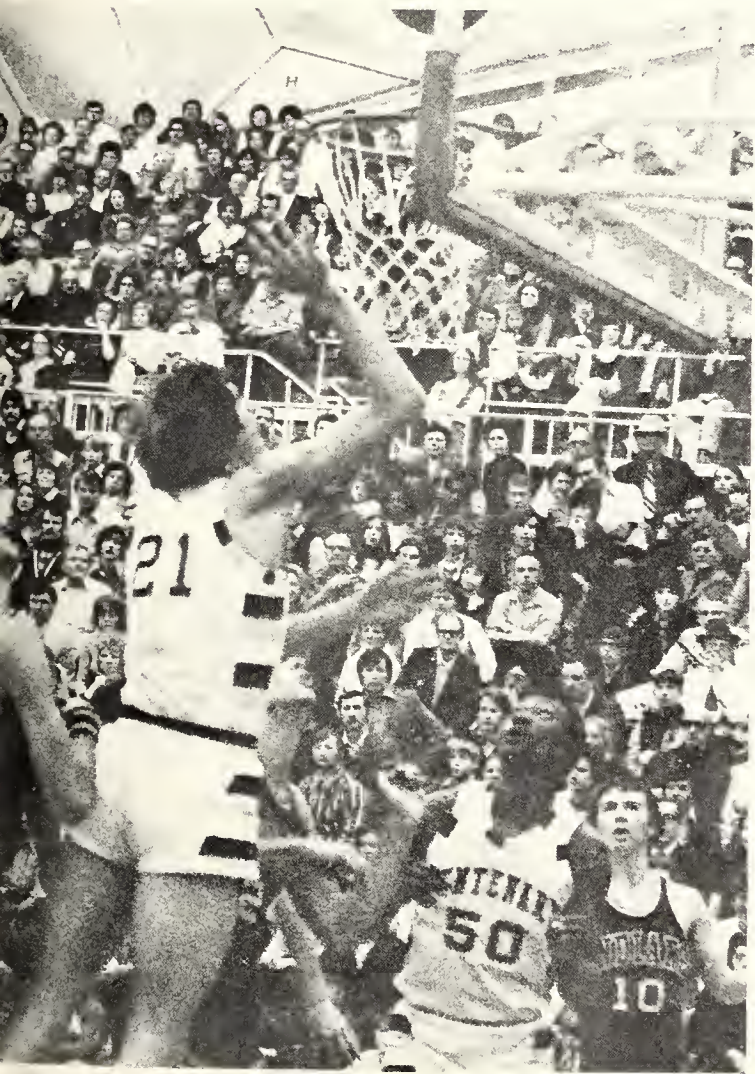

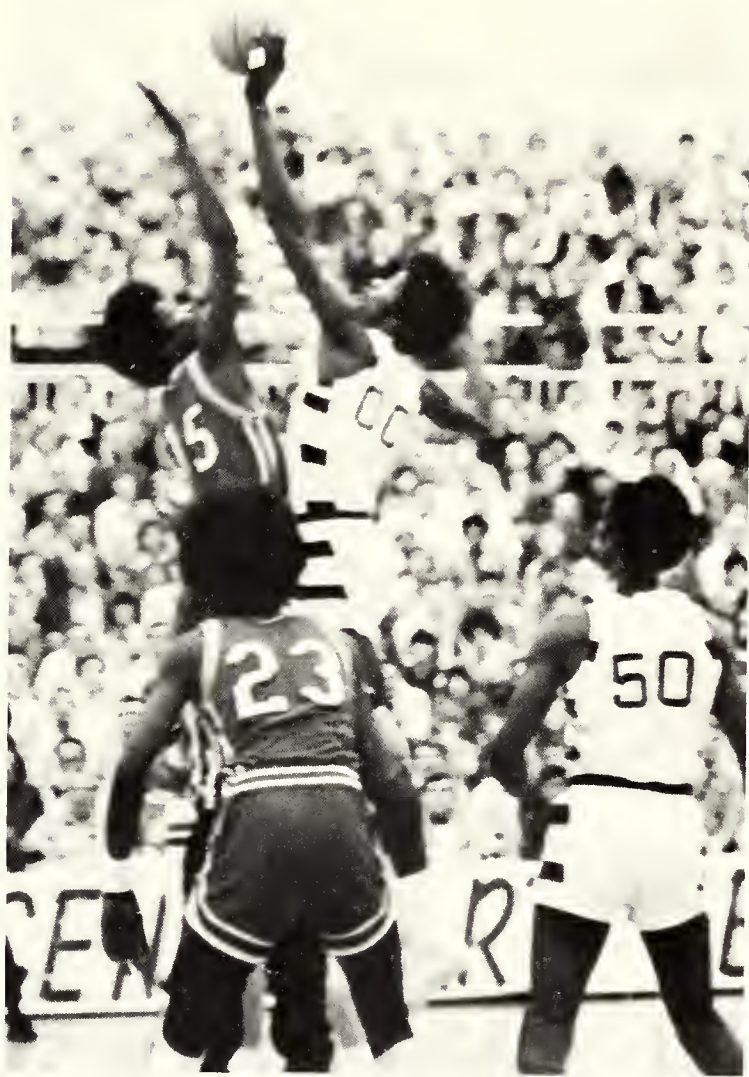

This year's Gents returned only two regulars from last years 19-8 club, and at the beginning of the season there was much speculation about the youth and seeming immaturity of the Gents. Everyone realized that the Gents had an immense wealth of talent but some questioned the ability of pure talent to withstand the pressures of the NCAA, the press, and the rigorous 25 game schedule. There is no single answer to the team's success, but it is rather a culmination of a number of efforts. First of all, Coaches Larry Little and Riley Wallace did an excellent job of preparing the players for the season's campaign. The Gents were able to make important adjustments and compensations when game situations necessitated a change of course. Secondly, the Gents got outstanding leadership from their team captains Dave Deets and Robert Parish when the pressure demanded a steady hand. Third, Leon Johnson emerged as a clutch shot, and consistent performer at both ends of the court. Fourth, was the role the starters, Cal Smith and Barry McLeod, and key reservers, Jerry Waugh, Nate Bland, Rick Houston, and Ron Todd, were to play. Game after game these men did the things they did best. They hustled . . . for steals, for rebounds, for open shots and this all-out desire to achieve was what made this team more than an amalgamation of raw talent. The winning attitudes of the players made this team a winner, and in so doing has given everyone associated with Centenary College a little something to smile about and to be proud.

Kneeling: Jim Bonds, Rick Jackson, and Stan Welker. Standing: Assistant Coach Benny DePrang, Dale Kinkelaar, Ed Harris, Welton Brookshire, John Pitts, Al Barnes, and Coach Riley Wallace.

The Junior Varsity had a 15-6 record this year. They dropped a few games early in the season to junior colleges, but came on strong the last part of the year after they began playing better as a team.

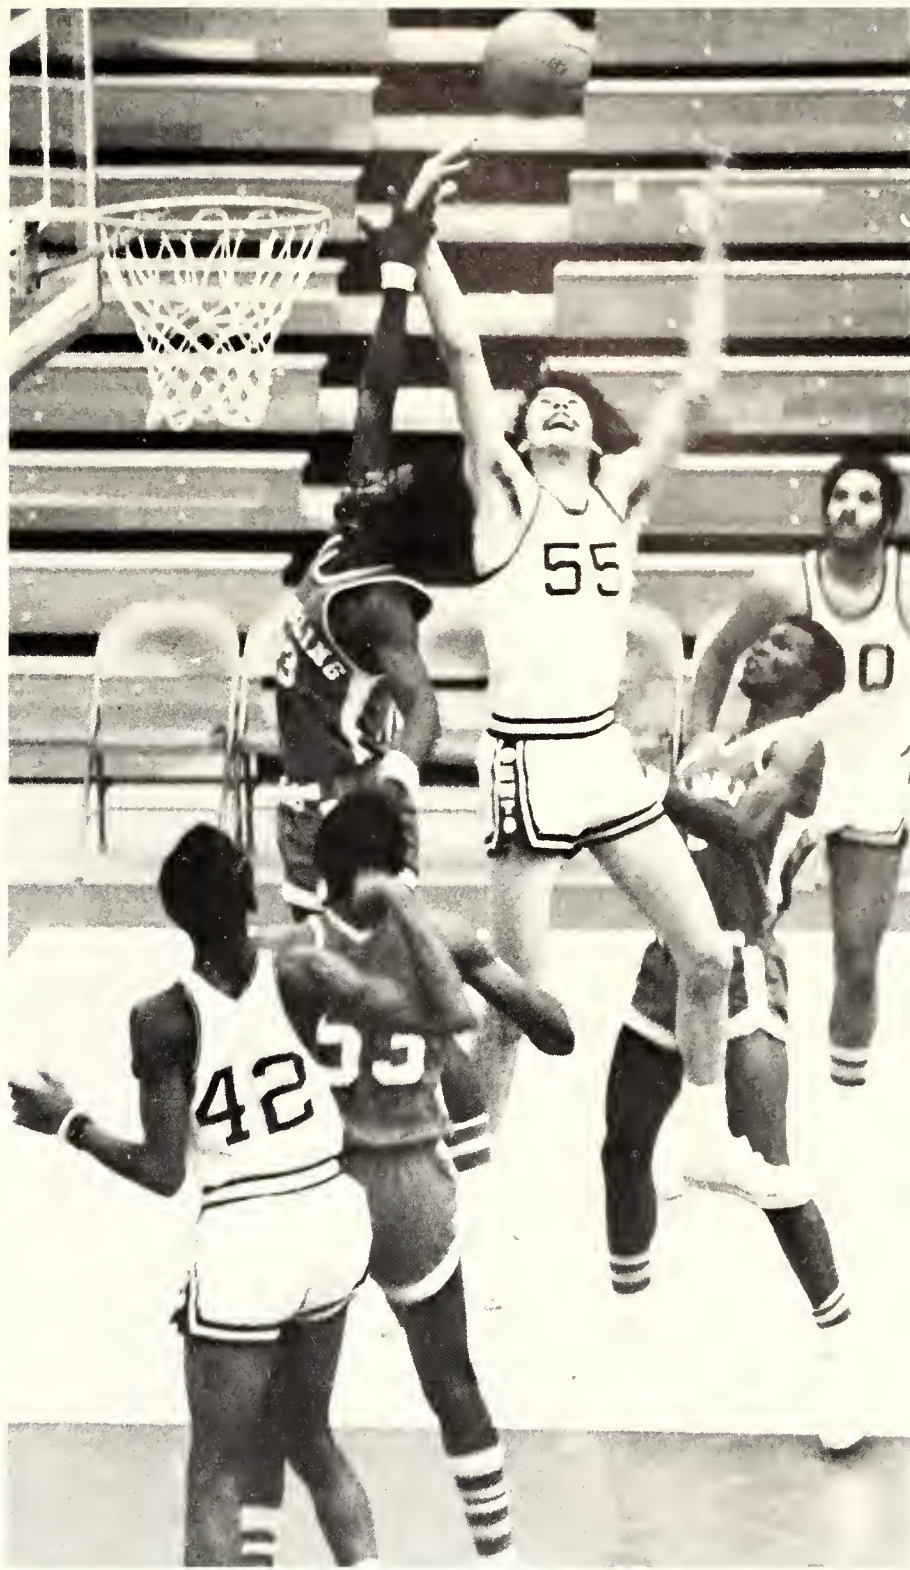

The Gentlets only had eight players this year, and consequently everyone logged a lot of playing time. Freshman Rick Jackson was the most exciting player on the team. He showed exceptional talent with his outside shooting and ballhandling ability. Two other freshmen, Al Barnes and John Pitts from Hempstead, New York, gave the Gentlets a strong rebounding combination under the boards. The only other freshman, Ed Harris did a good job in relief and showed signs of real promise toward the end of the season. Upperclassmen Dale Kinkelaar, Stan Welker, Welton Brookshire, and Jim Bonds provided the team with poise and experience.

Golf

The golf team has but one returner this year, Terry Moores. Terry who transferred here last year from Houston has made big strides toward improving his overall game in the course of the last year and appears ready to make his presence really felt this Spring. Three other native Shreveporters, John Montelepre, Dave Atkins, and Claude Debeaux, round out the golf team and should lend some valuable knowledge to the team when they play at home. The team played well in the Fall in four tournaments and coach Braswell is optimistic that the Spring will be a success.

Varsity Tennis

This year's tennis team has five lettermen back from last year and three promising freshmen. In the only tournament of the Fall the Gents finished a single point behind Southwest Baptist College for second place in the Hendrix College Tournament. Freshman Danny Murphy playing number 1 singles lost a close contest in the finals after taking it to 3 sets. Seniors Rick Clark and Calvin Head playing numbers 2 and 3 respectively were eliminated in the semi-finals, and freshman Joe Hardt captured the number 4 singles championship. Murphy and Clark combined for the number 1 doubles and made it to the finals before being defeated; then Beau Morris teamed up with Hardt to take first place in the number 2 doubles.

Baseball

Taylor Moore took over this year as the new head baseball mentor, and the Gents responded with a fine 8-6 record in the Fall. The Gents have lost only one man off of last year's team and have picked up six freshmen and two transfers. Four out of the eight new recruits are pitchers and show promise of providing the Gents with the bullpen depth they have desperately lacked the last few seasons. Added mound strength plus a couple of consistent young hitters and fielders may give the Gents just the right amount of punch they'll need for a successful Spring.

Cross Country

The Cross Country team was led this year by Leon Johnson, who won the LeTourneau meet in the Fall, and Dale Grauke, a freshman who was one of the state's premier high school distance men last year. Joel Treadwell, John Breen, and Winston Hedges also turned in strong performances in the Fall and should be counted on for continued improvement in the Spring.

Men's Intramurals

This year's Men's Intramural Program is under the direction of Faculty Advisor Ken Ivy and Student Intramural Director Ted Case. The program strives to offer a variety of organized team and individual sports during the course of the Fall and Spring semesters.

The 1972-73 winner of the Intramural Sweepstakes was Kappa Sigma Fraternity. For the second consecutive year the Kappa Sigs managed to out point stiff competition and maintain this trophy. If they can make it three in a row this year then they will be entitled to retire the existing trophy to their own trophy case, but opponents such as Kappa Alpha Fraternity, Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, and the Faculty all loom as key contenders and appear anxious to upset the Kappa Sigs in their bid for an elusive 3 year sweep.

The Horny Demons defeated the Kappa Sigs by the score of 12-7 to take the flag football championship for a second consecutive year. Their attack was keyed by the play of Dan Sparrow, who kept constant pressure on the Sigs passing game and who also made numerous fine receptions for clutch gains while on offense. Big plays by the Demon secondary as well as consistent quarterbacking by Don Birkelbach also played a major role in the Demon's victory. The Sigs however had their own heroes even in defeat. In the first half quarterback Frank Parks rolled wide and hit split-end Bill Dunlap for a 40 yard touchdown. This score and the ensuing extra point were to be the only times however that the Sigs could tally. On what would have been their go ahead touchdown the Kappa Sigs were penalized on a questionable call for having lined up off sides. Numerous penalties and the inability of the Kappa Sigs to come up with big plays ultimately made the difference.

In order to reach the finals the Kappa Sigs had to defeat a determined Kappa Alpha team 6-0, and the Demons out fought Tau Kappa Epsilon 20-13.

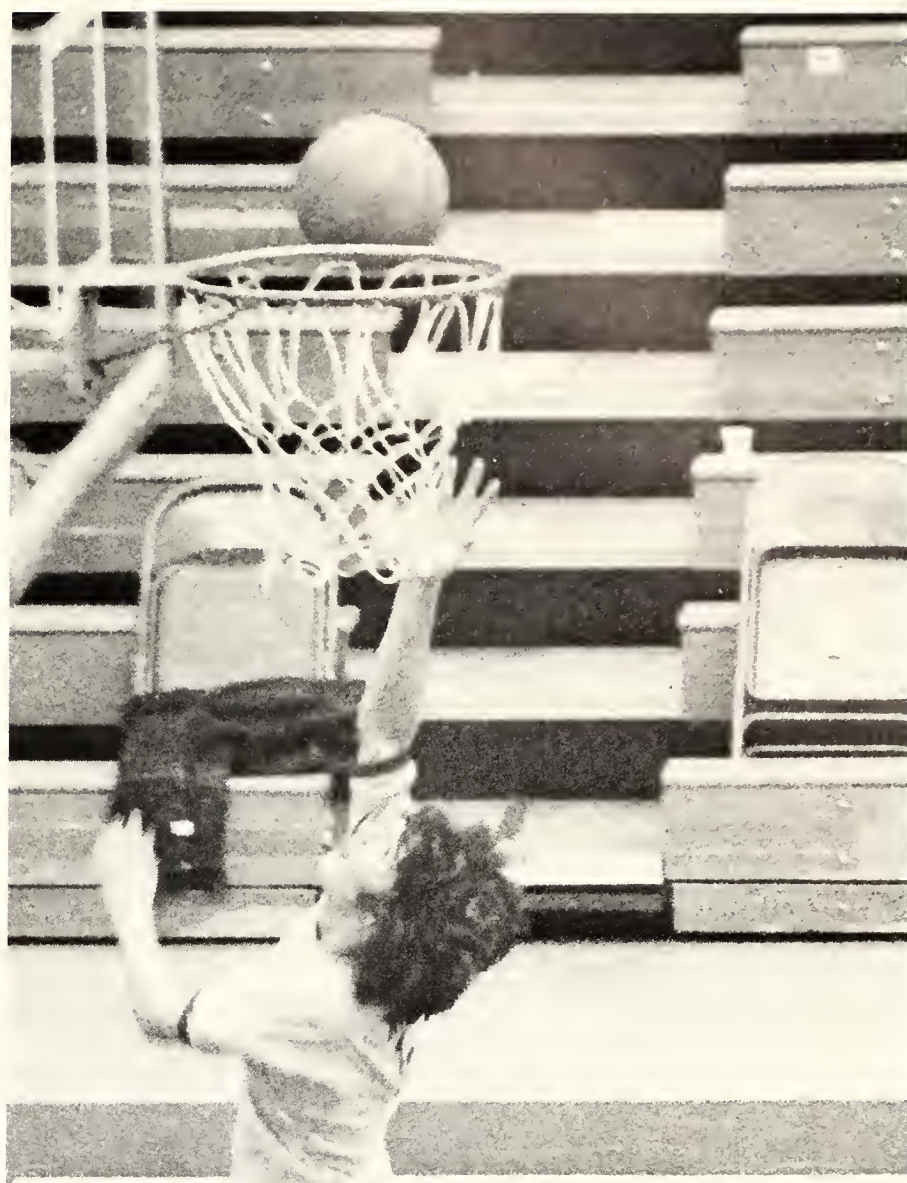

The consolation game was won by the K A's who defeated the T K E's 20-7.

Intramural volleyball was won this Fall by the Faculty over Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. The Horny Demons defeated the KA's for third place.

Women's Intramurals

The Women's Recreational association is responsible for coordinating intramural activities for the Centenary women. Women's intramurals serves as a means of recreation and pleasure, and a high degree of competitiveness is not essential.

The only women's intramural activity in the Fall was volleyball and it was won by the Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity over the Sexton Sots.

Education is a social process . . .
Education is growth . . .
Education is not preparation for life;
Education is life itself.

John Dewey

Dr. John H. Allen

President of

Centenary College of Louisiana

Too often we characterize learning or education as something that must take place inside the walls of a classroom or laboratory. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Education is happening all the time and everywhere people experience each other and their surroundings. At Centenary we view the total living experience on this campus as part of learning for those who enroll here.

The professor on the sidewalk, in the SUB, at the library, at a basketball game, is still a teacher and sharer of knowledge just as he is in the classroom. And can we not say the same for a student?

Being at Centenary is much more than being at an institution; it is being a part of a process, a process that enables one to learn, to share, and to live in such a way that he is transformed by his educational experience and spends the rest of his life transforming the world into a better place in which to live.

Front Row: Ella Edwards, Charles Harrington, Kathleen Owens, Anne White. Second Row: Joan Adams, Nancy Middleton, June Cooke. Kathleen Owens, alumna, faculty member, and assistant librarian, passed away on Sunday, Dec. 23, 1973. A most devoted member of the Centenary faculty, she always found time beyond her busy schedule to inspire others with her love of the college.

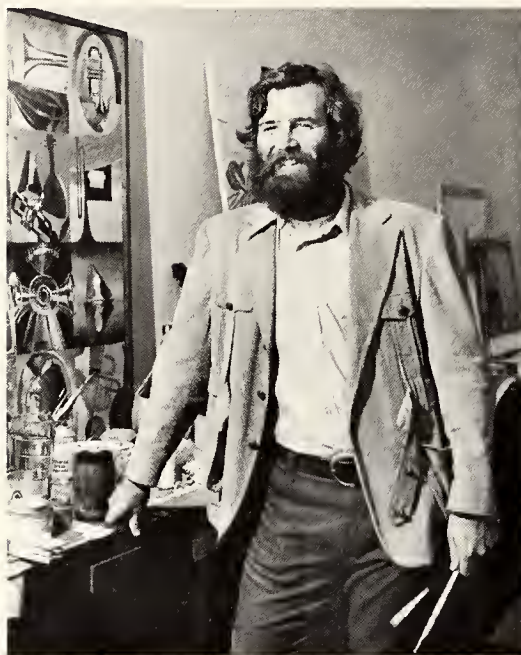

The late Ben Shahn said, "the very content of the liberal education is a natural content of art." I believe that we can provide each student with an opportunity to gain a liberal education in a climate that is sympathetic, intellectual, and cultural. Is there a better starting point?

CHMN. ART —
Mr. W. Cooper

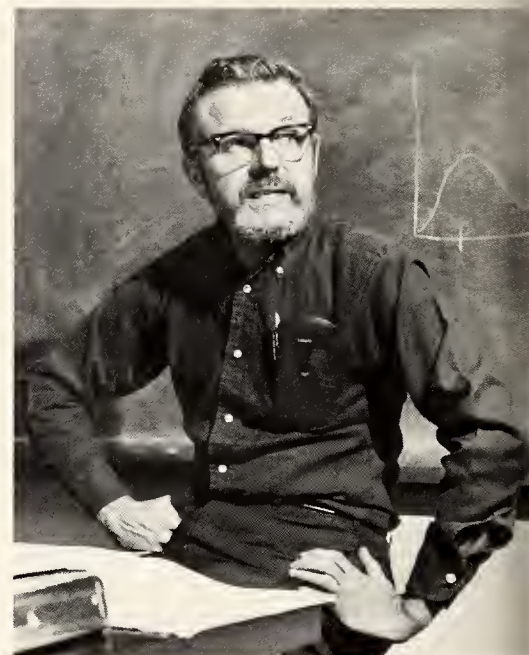

ART —
Miss E. Friedenberg

I find it an overwhelming challenge to keep the material I use for teaching fresh and meaningful. My objective is to make the learning process as painless as possible for the students.

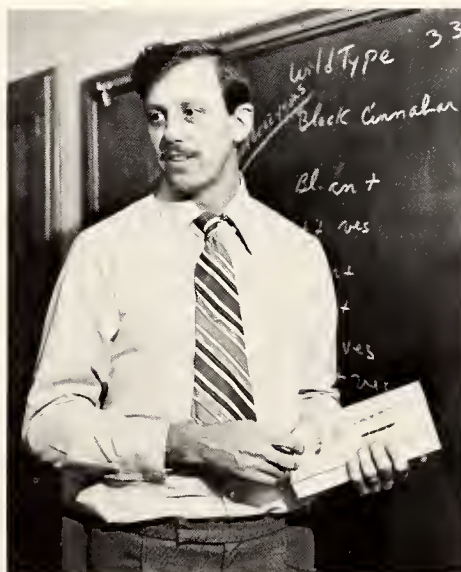

ART — Mr. McNamara

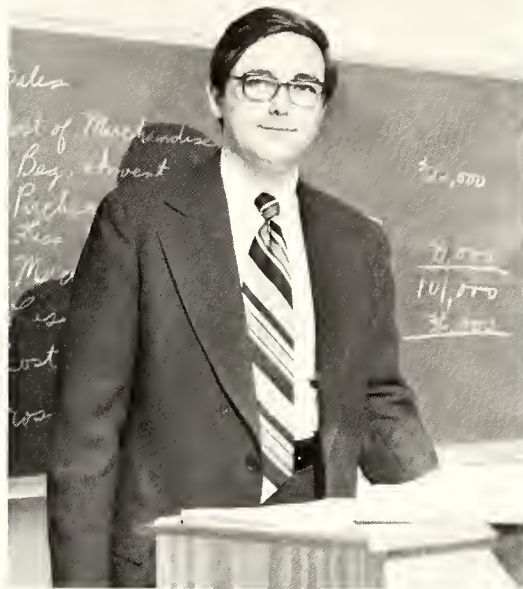

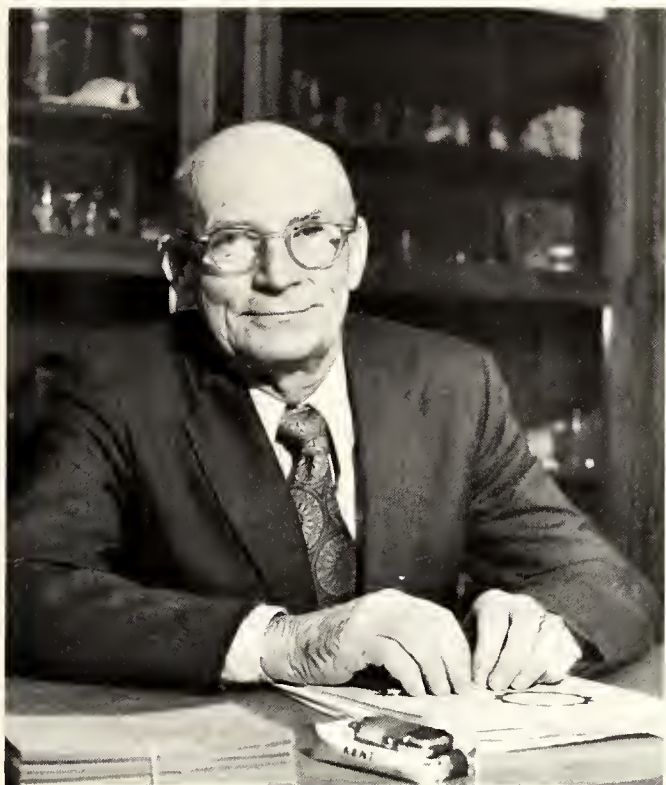

CHMN. BIOLOGY —
Dr. Robt. Deufel

I suppose that more than any other idea the words printed in a student guide over a decade ago at the University of Berlin have influenced my approach to teaching. "A preferably brief university education is not to fill a vessel, but to kindle a fire." To me this says that we don't need super-saturated graduates in biology or whatever. Rather we desperately need self-respecting and respectful human beings who are capable of generating enthusiasm. Learning is a shared enterprise. If working with students can help them understand themselves and the subject matter, perhaps we have both begun to learn something of value.

BIOLOGY — Dr. Bradley McPherson

BIOLOGY — Dr. O. P. Wilkins

CHMN. ECONOMICS AND
Mr. B. Smith

My basic aim is to help provide a knowledge of man by reviewing his past accomplishments and to encourage others to evaluate for themselves the role man should play in his total environment in the future. It has been said that change is the only constant in society today, however, we at Centenary should remember that true liberalism seeks to conserve that portion of the past which is meaningful and useful in solving future problems.

ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS —
Mr. Bob Fisher

Education is a wonderful process, requiring the stirring up of the little gray cells. To keep the process going it is necessary to agitate the LGC through mental gymnastics a la Socrates, not through regurgitation of lecture notes/textbooks. Questions? Comments? Arguments?

ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS —
Dr. W. Pate

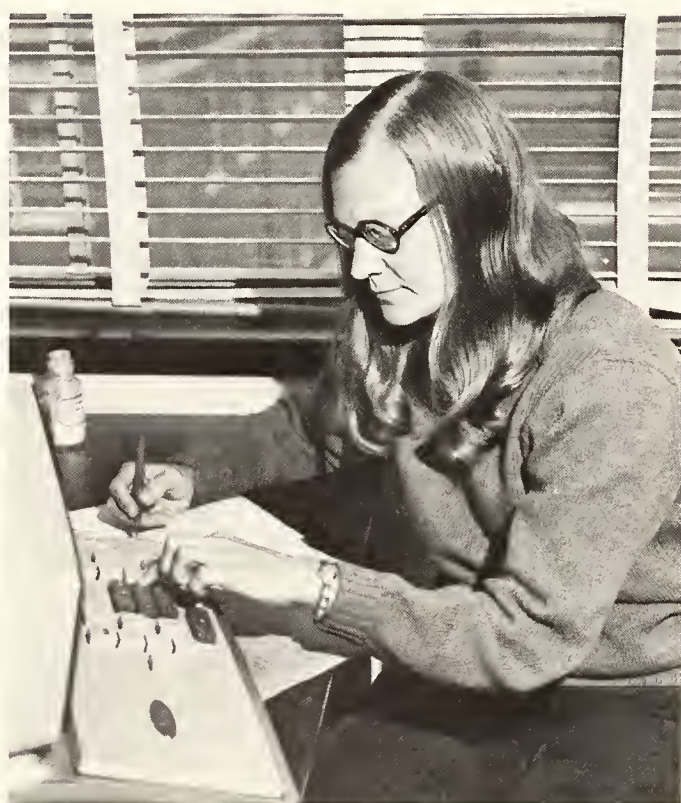

A teacher should strive to instill in the student a desire for understanding and an appreciation for the intellectual processes, not only by stressing a specialized area but by demonstrating that there is a unity between the various disciplines and by communicating to the student a confident faith in the values which derive from that unity.

CHMN.
CHEMISTRY —
Dr. W. Hanson

The dedication of the College to the principles of liberal education not only acquaints the student with a vast legacy of knowledge but enables and assists him to gain an awareness of his own mind's capacity and practice in using it.

Dr. R. Hood

CHEMISTRY — Dr. R. Seidler

I cannot write my philosophy of education. I am still a student involved not in giving answers, but in trying to ask the right questions.

Dr. Stan Taylor

I believe in a performance method of education for students. By performance method I mean that a student be guided to produce papers of computations that analyze or wrestle with a problem. It is not enough, in my view, simply to read a work and achieve a visceral experience or an ephemeral opinion. I wish the student to go beyond that and write out an orderly discussion of the authors ideas, his evidence, and the implication of that position. It is my belief that the student benefits only when he actively struggles with a question in order to satisfy some tangible objective (such as a paper of problem set). In addition to sharpening the students' intellectual powers by this method I hope to encourage the student's confidence in his ability to use his intellect.

I add my amen to Thomas Huxley's words, "We live in a world which is full of misery and ignorance and the plain duty of each and all of us is to make the little corner we can influence somewhat less miserable and somewhat less ignorant than it was before we entered."

CHMN. EDUCATION —
Dr. Robt. Hallquist

EDUCATION
CHMN.
PSYCH. — Dr. Dorothy Gwin

Diversity among individuals is a value which I esteem highly. Disagreement exists as to what students need, or one might say, what one requires for happiness and fulfillment. Perhaps the best authority on this is each individual himself, when he really knows himself. Centenary is a school where I believe one has the opportunity to know himself and that enough freedom is given in curricular choices to begin to meet one's needs. Furthermore, I believe the atmosphere is one in which academic and social change can take place for the individual and the institution.

It is incumbent on me as a member of the faculty of this institution to foster a climate whereby men and women are afforded the opportunity to develop intellectually, socially, and emotionally to the extent that each will be a contributing asset to the society to which he belongs.

EDUCATION — Dr. Joseph Garner

Many of today's facts will be useless in the very near future. Education today must stress logical thinking, the importance of new ideas, the proper collection and use of data and flexibility to adopt new ideas.

EDUCATION — Dr. David Harner

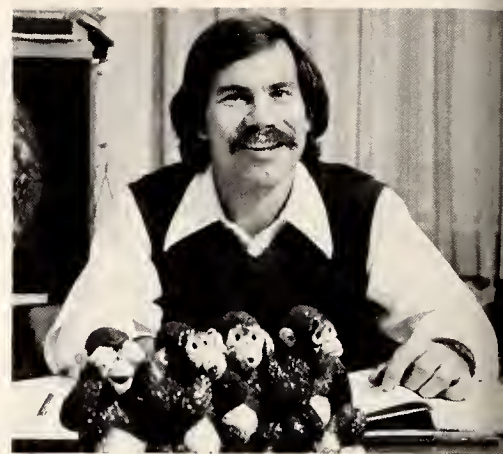

Many things. For one —

A Centenary graduate should be able to exert some control over his destiny. Apart from the specific information he acquires in his classes he needs to be able to assume responsibility, to be intellectually honest, and to be able to delay short term gratification for the attainment of more meaningful long-term goals to exert this control. We don't teach these behavioral capabilities to college students. They learn them much earlier. What we do is to increase the frequency with which they exhibit these behaviors by reinforcing them appropriately. When we're lucky we are able to persuade students to want to exhibit these behaviors.

PSYCHOLOGY —
Dr. Lewis Bettinger

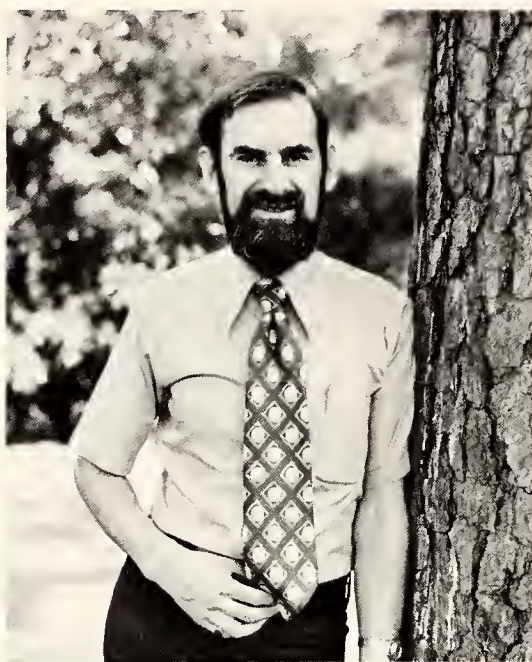

An educator should, I believe, seek to generate in the student a system of self-produced reinforcers which will serve to maintain the process of education long after his departure from the classroom. One way put it this way: "We should strive to make education as attractive as sin!"

PSYCHOLOGY — Mr. Mark Dulle

CHMN. ENGLISH —
Dr. Lee Morgan

The December, 1973, issue of National Geographic contains a eulogy of Leonard Carmichael, former President of Tufts University and distinguished psychologist, which reads in part: "He was a scientist who could clinch an argument by quoting a poet, an administrator who found solace in the intricate harmonies of Johann Sebastian Bach." It is this blending of disparate areas of knowledge and culture that Centenary in the liberal arts tradition seeks to achieve for her students.

ENGLISH — Dr. F. Gallagher

People are the key to a sound education. There should be a vital inter-personal relationship and a keen desire to learn and to share knowledge on the part of both the student and the professor. As Chaucer said of the Oxford clerk, "And gladly wolde he lerne and gladly teche."

"The function of higher education is to seek wholeness and to offer means of fulfilling one's potential; the function of teachers is to offer wholeness and to challenge students."

ENGLISH — Dr. W. Guerin

Education is a process by which a person uses past experience to gain understanding, and some mastery, of his universe. Education happens to all people, though a school can accelerate the process for some people by making accessible the recorded experience of others.

ENGLISH — Mr. M. Jones

To educate is, first of all, to develop the student's faculties to think, and then, above all, to think critically, not only about the ideas of others but indeed his own. Only then will he be able to form moral and ethical judgments in the face of the mass absolutes of our society today.

CHMN. FOREIGN LANGUAGES —
Dr. M. Watts

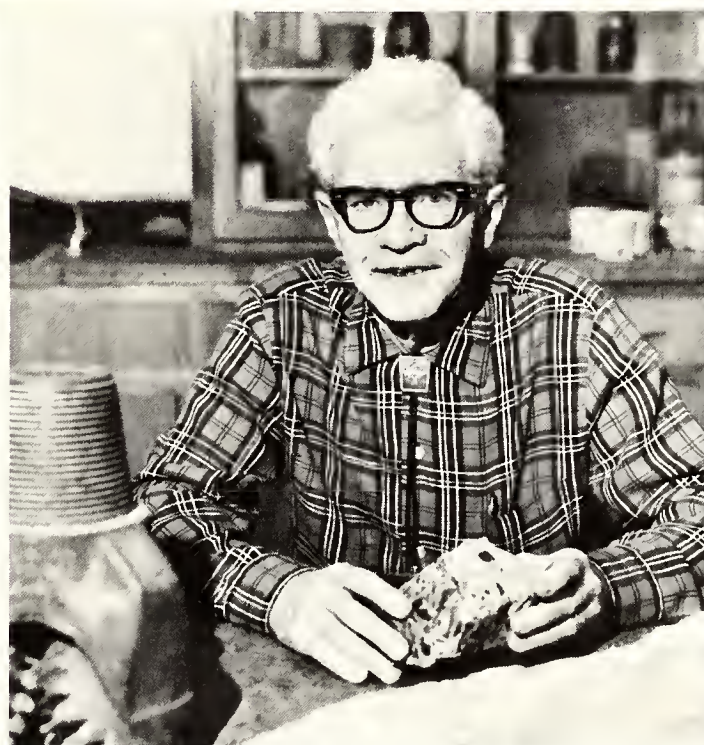

FOREIGN LANGUAGES —
Dr. A. Penuel

Education is a means whereby man makes his experience meaningful and useful while satisfying, at the same time, his basic urge to know. The more man knows about himself and his environment the richer his experiences and the greater his awareness of his opportunities to choose what he does with his life.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES — he lives.
Dr. V. Gottlob

A liberal arts education should give the student an opportunity to learn about the physical universe and about man as a natural and a cultural being. The study of mathematics, the natural sciences, the social sciences, and the humanities should enable him to understand and criticize the assumptions which underlie both his own world-view and that of the society in which

CHMN. GEOLOGY — Mr. C. Hickcox

Treat the student, as you would like to be treated. Give him the chance to show that he can do the work, and will do the work. Help those who need help. Each of us should show the student that we take pride in their work.

An atmosphere of concern for the development of the intellectual, spiritual, and physical needs of the individual must be obvious in faculty members, otherwise we serve no unique purpose in education. Christian humanism should be an inherent quality in both faculty and students at any small, church-supported liberal arts institution.

GEOLOGY — Dr. N. Shaw

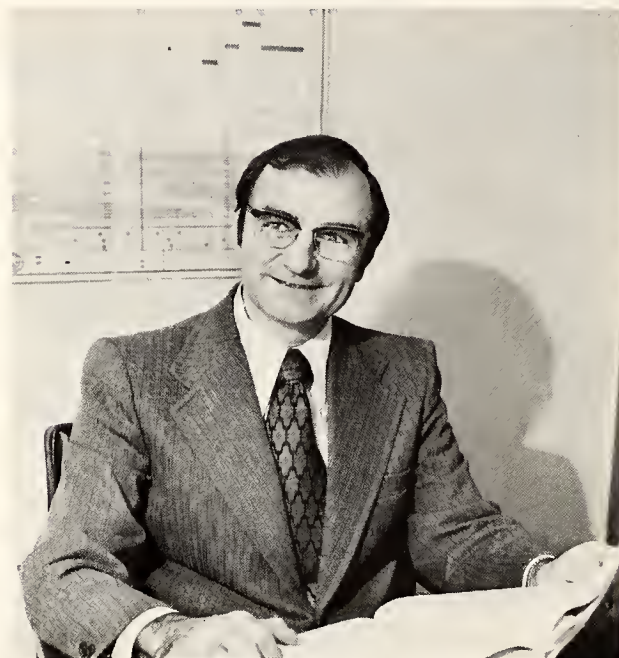

HISTORY AND GOV'T —
Dr. Ed Haas

In its best sense education is the mutual interchange of ideas between teacher and student that broadens experiences and stimulates new thought.

Though the details of history may fade from the student's mind, it is my hope that the concepts of man in his infinite variety, and the principles of the historical method as a major avenue to understanding him will remain vivid.

CHMN. HISTORY AND GOV'T —
Dr. Walter Lowrey

HISTORY AND GOV'T —
Dr. Alton Hancock

The individual lives in a "community of being" with other humans and with the natural order. Education at Centenary, as I see it, has as its purpose the guiding of students in gaining an understanding of the nature and history of man and the world and in exploring possibilities for improving this "community."

Most of what a professor says about man is no more than a statement about the man of a very limited period. Therefore, education should provide the intellectual and emotional flexibility for the individual to deal with the present state of affairs and respond effectively to changes in his or her life. Liberal education, as opposed to technical training, provides this background for changing futures.

HISTORY AND GOV'T —
Mr. Darrell Loyless

HISTORY AND GOV'T —
Dr. Vira Rainey

A college should provide an environment of learning for those concerned with understanding the processes and implication of social and ideological change of the global society in which we live. We hope that students will be stimulated and challenged to form objective, responsible values and goals which will remain viable in a revolutionary world.

One facet of my philosophy: I believe that learning is one of the sheerest pleasures available to a human being, and that my primary job as a teacher is to open up avenues to student for experiencing that joy. It is not a joy that I can present them as a gift; I can only encourage their reaching for it. They all have potentiality.

CHMN. MATHEMATICS —
Dr. Virginia Carlton

MATHEMATICS —
Mr. Donald Danvers

MATHEMATICS — Dr. David Simmons

MATHEMATICS — Mrs. Betty Spears

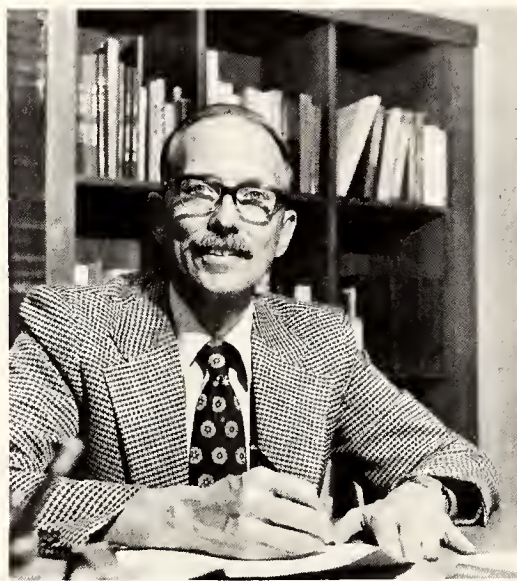

Centenary College affords the individual an opportunity for personal fulfillment educationally and socially among a superior peer group. Small classes and a dedicated and concerned faculty assure the student ample opportunity to achieve maximum individual fulfillment. A quality library, well-equipped laboratories, and superior fine arts facilities enable the student to achieve in areas other than classroom performance.

MATHEMATICS — Mrs. F. Self

I want to do the best I can to contribute to an atmosphere in which learning and art are pursued with energy, dedication and humility by both students and faculty. I would also like to be instrumental in helping to create the opportunities for the realization of this pursuit.

CHMN. MUSIC —
Dr. Francis Carroll

MUSIC —
Miss Mary Beth Armes

Learning through experience seems to me the soundest and most effective education. In my classes and rehearsals I always attempt to give students an opportunity to relate to something in their experience in the hope this will make learning more vivid and complete and help them to build a well-rounded reservoir of information and ideas.

MUSIC — Dr. Wm. Ballard

MUSIC — Mr. B. P. Causey

MUSIC — Mr. Ronald Dean

MUSIC — Mr. Monas Harlan

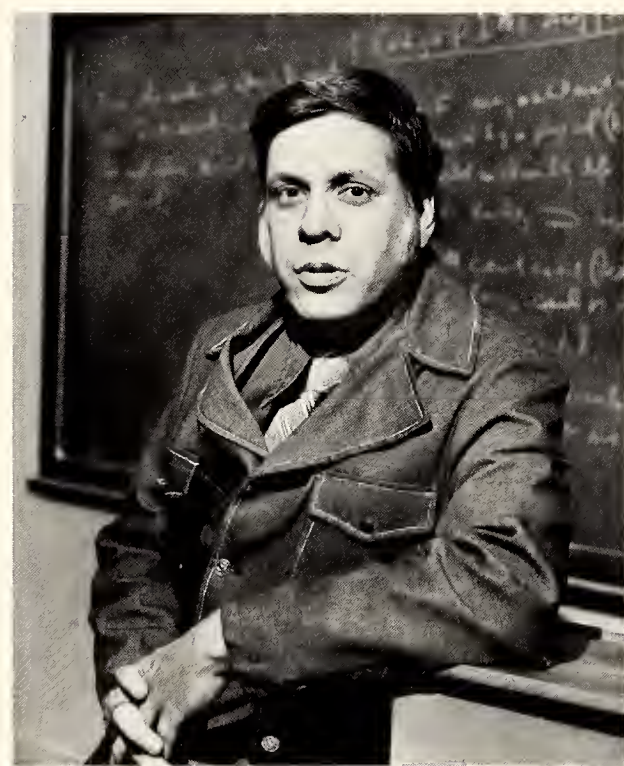

We must value things that are permanent and beautiful, if we want to leave behind us a civilization that will value things we make with our hands, our minds, and our hearts. We must build new cathedrals to glorify that to which man aspires beyond his daily bread. All knowledge and intelligence exists now and forever in the Universal Mind of God and it is ours not so much to sense, but to realize.

MUSIC — Miss Frances Perkins

I want my students to enjoy many kinds of music. Since familiarity increases one's enjoyment, I try to increase their interest by drawing attention to a few details in representative types of compositions, and with each rehearsing to make them more aware of what is being heard.

MUSIC —
Dr. Donald Rupert

CHMN. PHILOSOPHY —
Dr. L.H. Cox

"The classical humanistic formula and goal are still true: educating the whole man, a sound mind in a sound body. Centenary must educate people for living and not simply for earning."

MUSIC — Mr. Wm. Teague

PHILOSOPHY —
Dr. C. T. Beaird

True learning is "learning how"-not "learning that." Special languages such as those of mathematics and logic make possible more powerful and precise methods of reasoning but all disciplines should be concerned with expanding our "tool-kit" of concepts and techniques. The professor's job is not to teach but to motivate and assist the student.

CHMN. PHYSICAL EDUCATION —
Mr. Kenneth Ivy

PHYSICAL EDUCATION —
Coach Larry Little

PHYSICAL EDUCATION —
Miss Sharon Settlemyre

PHYSICAL EDUCATION —
Coach R. Wallace

I believe that each department at Centenary offers a good basic set of courses and that each course is taught by outstanding teachers. In the sciences where laboratories are so important we have modern equipment for the teaching of the latest techniques in research.

CHMN. PHYSICS AND ENGINEERING —
Dr. L. Galloway

PHYSICS AND ENGINEERING —
Mr. Parker

The Liberal Arts provide intellectual competence, imaginative power, and qualities of character and leadership required for a successful career in the professions. The church-related institution also provided personal enrichment and spiritual development that are often lacking in technical education. A combination of both provided the student with an appreciation of the arts, ecology, and human relations so badly needed for today's Engineer; it combines the best of two worlds.

One of the great teachers of all times once said that "you shall know the truth and the truth shall set you free." A liberal arts education can free one from the shackles of ignorance and fear; and gird one with a sense of responsibility, a sense of identity, and can endow him with the skills and the ability to profit from his environment.

CHMN. SOCIOLOGY —
Dr. Pledger

Education at Centenary should provide an intellectual and moral foundation on which to build in later life and should include a broad coursework background laced with plenty of practical experience.

Dr. Jeffrey Trahan

RELIGION —
Mr. Robt. Ed. Taylor

Education
— To Become — aware, curious, sensitive, compassionate, personal — To Search — diligently, patiently, critically — To Enlarge — perspective, concern, hope, knowledge — To Love — oneself, per-

CHMN. RELIGION —
Dr. Webb Pomeroy

Education is learning to understand. Facts are the basis of understanding, thinking, planning and acting. Education is the acquiring facts to be used in the search for faith as the basis for understanding of ultimate meaning and values as a basis for living and acting. I believe faith, education and understanding lead one to a life dedicated to the highest good for all and to living toward that end for all people.

A caustic wit defined higher education as "the inculcation of the ignorant by the incompetent in an incomprehensible manner." This in itself is incomprehensible to any Centenary faculty member. There are no "teachers" here per se. Only guides, or pathfinders, whose true purpose at Centenary should be to encourage each, repeat each, individual student along the admittedly arduous way of self and goal actualization. We are proud of Centenary's uniqueness, aware of our responsibilities to our students, and that is the real "spirit of Centenary."

SOCIOLOGY —
Mr. Ed Vinson

"If a man does not keep pace with his companies, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away."

CHMN. THEATRE/SPEECH —
Mr. Robt. Buseick

THEATRE/SPEECH Miss
Barbara Acker

Education is a process, not a product oriented activity, and that is what makes the work of colleges difficult to evaluate. How convenient and neat and tidy to have schooling work like a conveyor belt: an input of information on one end of an assembly line producing at the other end, a student with a proven ability to simply manipulate said information. But that is not what schooling should be.

To educate means to bring forth from a person what is already inherent in him in his imagination, sensitivity, his critical and creative powers and his ability to conceptualize. Inherent abilities need the pressure of discipline of the mind and body to manifest themselves. Biological life is not enough; a man must realize his spiritual, emotional, and intellectual capacities. The teacher is only midwife to the man.

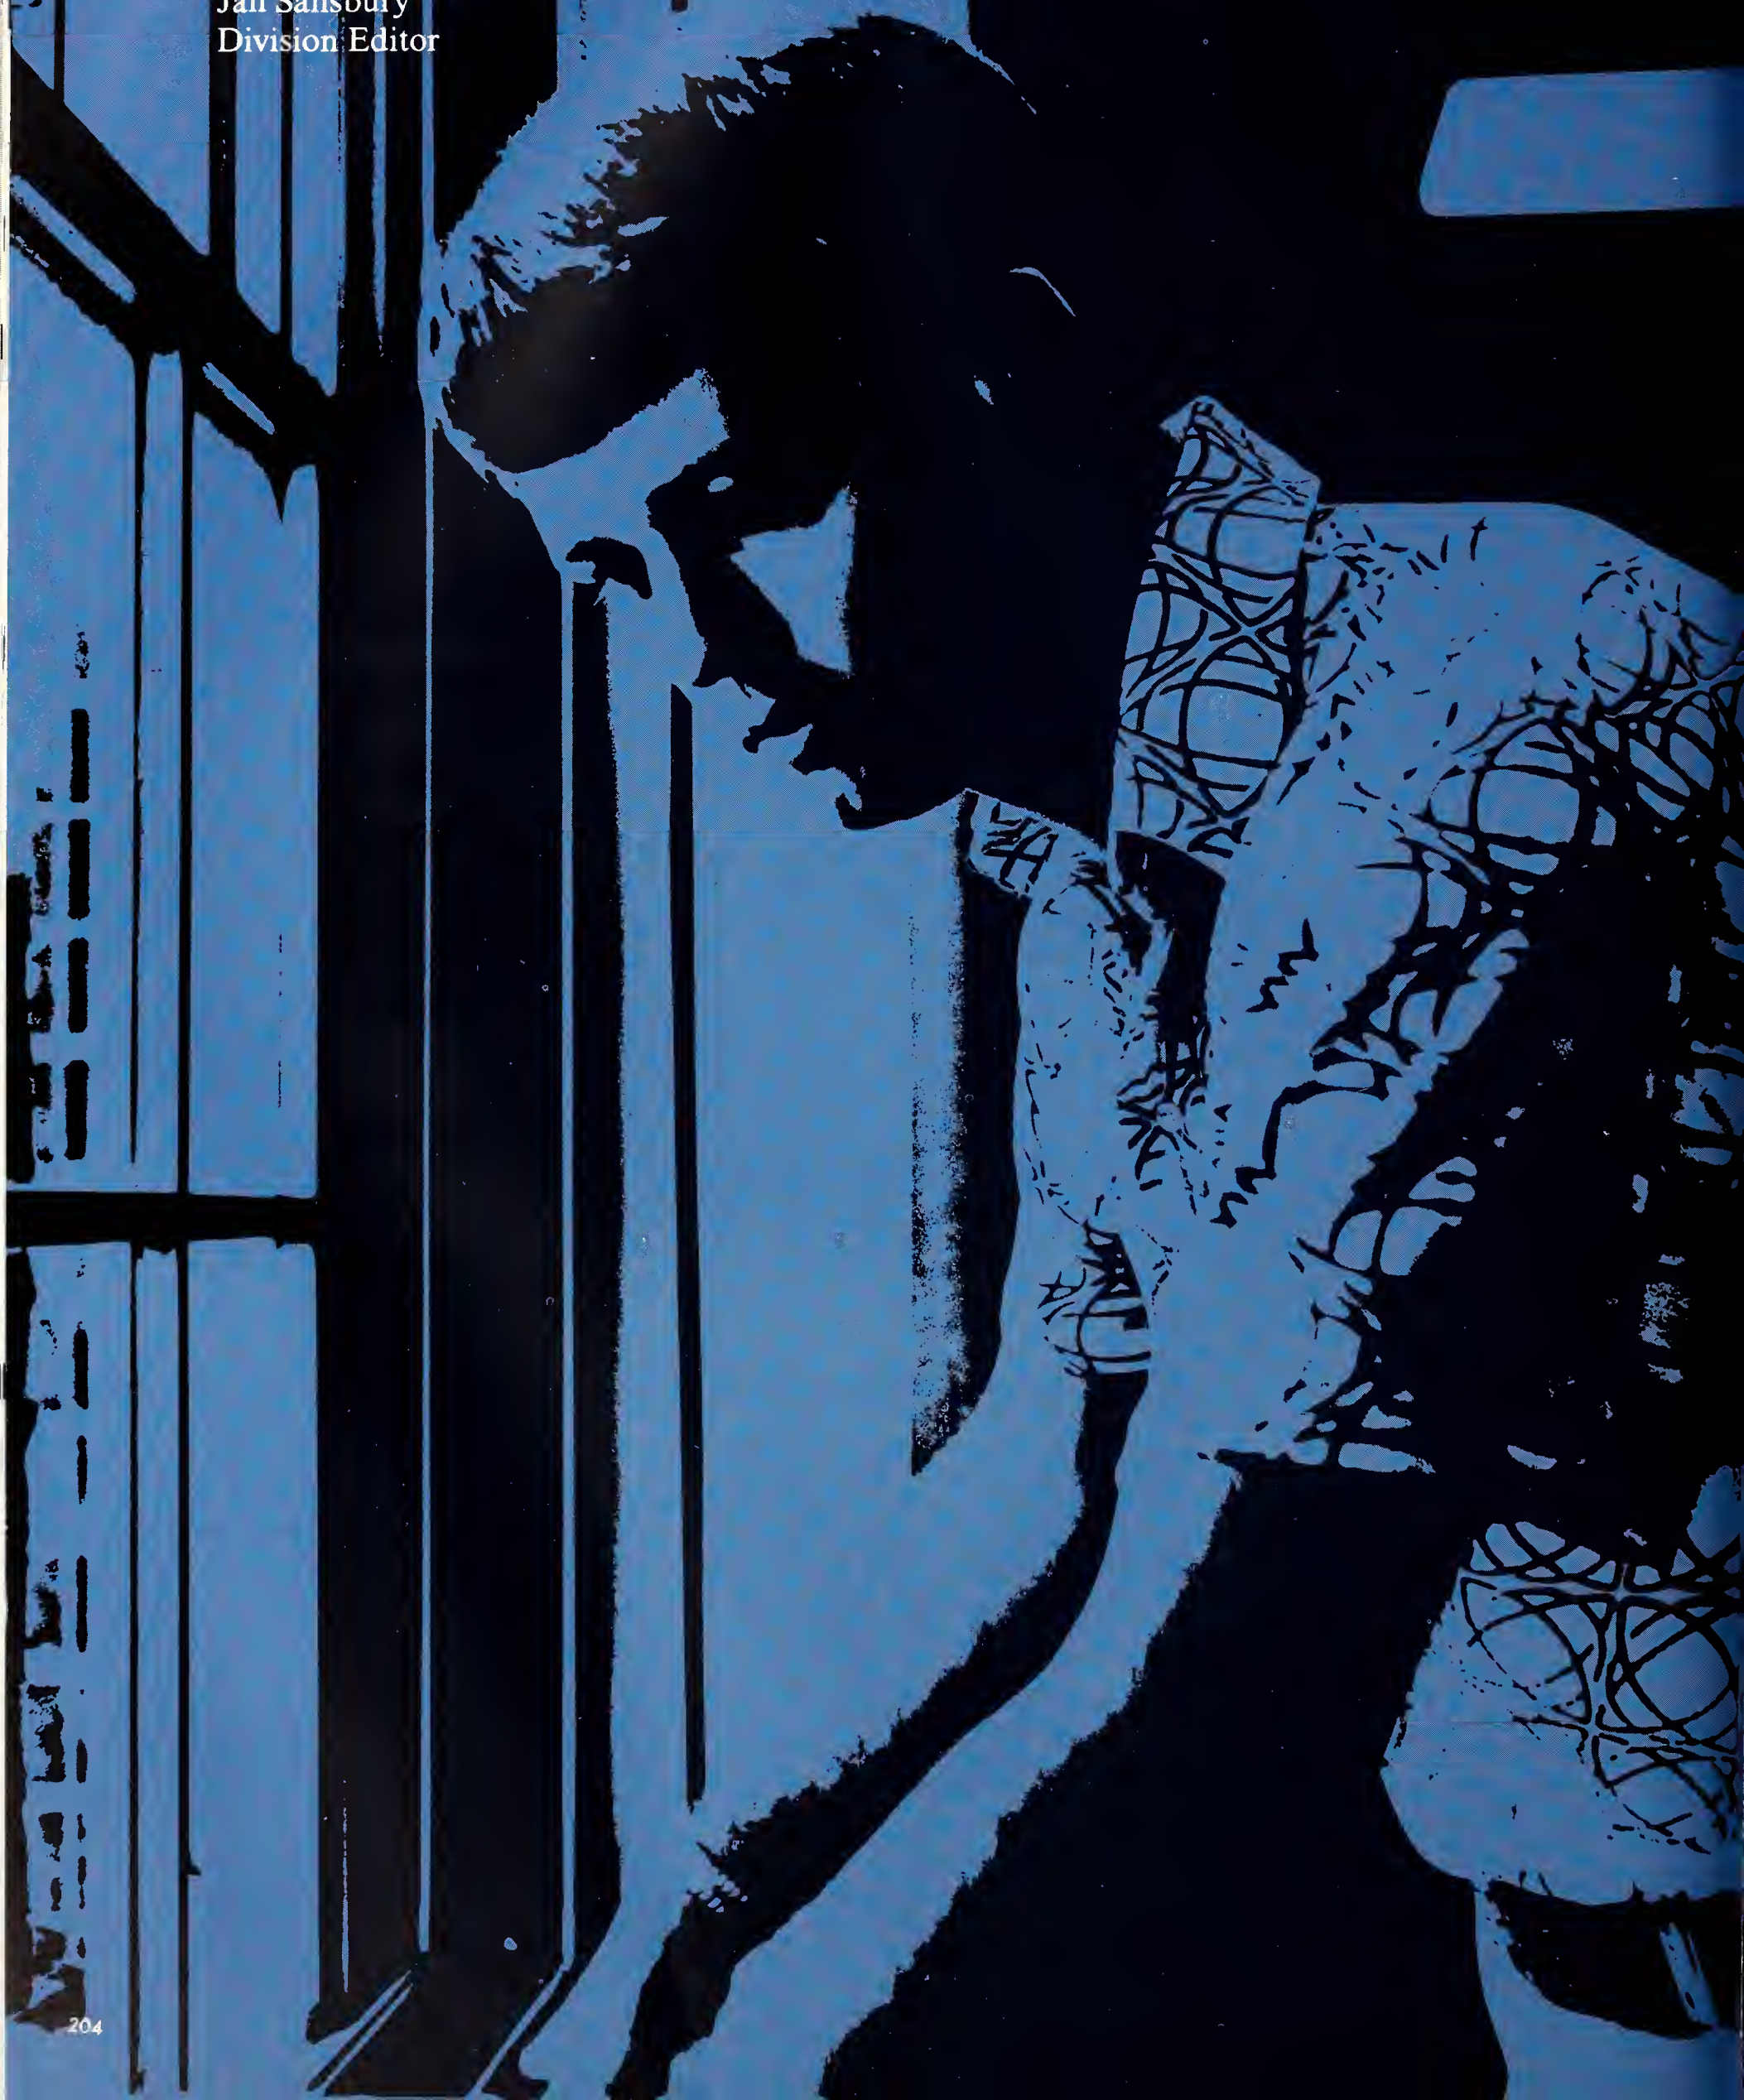

THEATRE/SPEECH —
Mr. C. L. Holloway

Keeping in mind that Centenary College is a Liberal Arts College, I intend for my philosophy to involve both student (non-major and major) and the community. My basic aim is to cause sufficient interest and stimulus for self study and creative experimentation, I hope that that is not too academic or intellectual. Education should also be an emotional involvement of self.

HAMILTON HALL

Reflected images of light and traces of past warmth endure after sunset and long into the night. As it is with light,
so also with life.

— Pegasus '73

There is nothing I can give you which you have not, but there is much that while I cannot give you, you can take:
No heaven can come to us unless our hearts find rest in it today. Take Heaven.
No peace lies in the future which is not hidden in this present instant.
Take Peace.
The gloom of the world is but a shadow; behind it, yet within reach, is
joy. Take Joy.
